UN Tanks Slash At Commies

Yankees Punch Into Red Lines 11 Miles To North Of Seoul

TOKYO — (Friday) — (AP) — American tank raiders plunged into red lines 11 miles north of Seoul Thursday on aggressive patrols that scattered or destroyed small offensive outpost forces around the capital.

Total red casualties for Thursday on the whole Korean warfront were estimated by the Eighth army at 1,740 killed and wounded and 75 taken prisoner.

One tank-infantry team entered Uijongbu at the 11-mile mark for the deepest penetration of communist lines since the red spring offensive was jolted to a halt by allied big guns and air power before May day.

Break And Run

Reds at Uijongbu met the tanks with small arms fire and then broke and ran when the tankers opened up with machine-guns and 90-mm. rifles.

After the raids there and to the northeast and northwest the tanks pulled back for the night inside the defenses around Seoul.

U. N. forces still held a sector north of the 38th parallel in the northeast. There during the day one red battalion was forced to withdraw under attack east of Inje.

Although relatively minor, the skirmishes were regarded as evidence the reds are digging in on a line roughly 10 miles north of Seoul to regroup their hard-hit forces for a resumption of the offensive they began April 22.

Vienna Incident Occurs As Patrol Challenges Night-Owling Red Pair

VIENNA, Austria—(Friday)—(AP)—An American military policeman was killed and an Austrian civilian wounded early today by a burst of fire from machine pistols wielded by two Russian soldiers in the center of Vienna.

The man killed was identified by United States army police headquarters as Cpl. Paul Gresens (home town unavailable).

Gresens and Cpl. Jack Morgan (home town unavailable) were making their rounds of the international sector when the shooting occurred.

As they left a night club, the Cafe Oriental, shortly before 1 a.m., they saw two uniformed men on the street. The Americans challenged them and saw they were Russian soldiers.

Russians Open Fire

But as they were challenged, the Russians whirled and began firing their machine pistols.

Gresens was hit in the stomach. A passing Austrian was wounded in the arm and bullets splattered taxis parked outside the night club. Gresens was dead on arrival at an army hospital.

Morgan reported he fired six shots at the Russians when they turned to flee, but failed to hit either of them with his .45 caliber army pistol.

Russian authorities have been requested to find them, as they apparently escaped on foot into the Soviet sector.

Escape On Foot

The official report said the Russians fired about 20 shots. Morgan rushed to an Austrian police station and notified the international police patrol and U.S. police headquarters.

The Cafe Oriental is one of the Austrian capital's most famous night spots. It features semi-nude women dancers.

The Russians were responsible for policing the international sector in April. The duty, which is rotated, was turned over to the Americans for May.

Father Kills 8 Children

LENOIR, N. C.—(AP)—A jobless father bludgeoned his eight children to death Wednesday night, set their small mountain home afire, then shot himself to death.

Police said Ralph Gragg, 36, thus made good a threat that his wife, separated from her family for more than a month, would never get their children.

The multiple killings took place in the tiny Blue Ridge mountain community of Collettsville, about 10 miles west of here.

Several of the children, who ranged in age from three to 16 years, had fractured skulls.

The grief-stricken mother, Mrs. Ruth Story Gragg, told police: "He threatened to do this before —that's why I had to leave them. I was afraid of him."

Lyman Youth Killed When Tractor Tips

LYMAN, Neb. —(AP)— Donald Joy, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Joy, was killed instantly Thursday night when a tractor which he was driving home from a field on his father's farm overturned and crushed his chest.

The accident occurred about two miles northeast of here.

It was the second such accident in two days in Scottsbluff county. Late Wednesday, Norman Schillereff, 19, of Scottsbluff, was killed in a similar mishap.

Mac's Aide Slaps Glove At Reporter

... AP Man Claims

NEW YORK—(AP)—An Associated Press reporter said Thursday night he was shoved and slapped at by General MacArthur's personal aide. The aide denied it.

The reporter, David Robinson, said the incident occurred as he was trying to ask MacArthur about his plans to return to the senate hearings Friday in Washington.

The aide, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, shoved him aside, Robinson said, and slapped at him with a glove, striking him on the arm.

"Not a word of truth in it," Whitney said afterwards. I was holding my position on the general's left as I always do.

"I didn't push anyone any more than they pushed me. There was crowding toward the general."

Porch Pieces Taken

Elmer O. Harrison of 1145 E told police Thursday evening someone took a $50 four and three-eighths inch wood joiner from the east side of his porch. Harrison said the theft occurred between 7:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

Road Delegations Visit Governor

Thursday was road delegation day at the state house.

Three groups talked with Governor Peterson on improving roads in their respective territory.

A Carroll delegation wanted Highway 115 hard-surfaced from Carroll north to Highway 20, a distance of 10 miles.

Dodge, Synder and Howells representatives urged concrete paving from Dodge east to U.S. 275.

Four Stapleton residents and two from Tryon talked about improving Highway 92 generally and discussed the possible extension of 92 west from Tryon through Arthur to or near Broadwater.

The governor, in general, told the groups that he recognized the need for improving each of the projects, but that the time work can be done is strictly a financial problem.

Wesleyan Set For May Day Festival

Nebraska Wesleyan university students will unveil their May Queen and Student Prince at traditional May day festivities on the campus Friday afternoon.

The program, open to the public, will begin at 2 p.m. in front of Old Main if good weather prevails and in the speech auditorium in case of rain.

In addition to crowning the queen and prince, the winner of the annual Woman's Athletic association poetry award will be announced as will new members of Cardinal Key and Blue Key, senior women's and men's honorary service groups.

A May pole dance by 12 freshman girls will precede the ceremonies which will be capped with the traditional inter-fraternity and inter-sorority sings.

George Ferris of Archer and Virginia Thompson of Fairmont ruled as queen and prince last year and Roberta Jackman of Norfolk won the poetry award.

Phi Kappa Tau fraternity and Alpha Gamma Deita sorority will be defending their respective crowns in the two singing competitions.

Increase In Truck Fees Is Proposed

... By Committee

The legislature's public works committee Thursday proposed an increase in truck registration fees.

The committee reported out LB 520 after the new fee schedule had been tacked on.

Heavier trucks (21-25 ton registered capacity) would be hit the hardest, with 60 per cent increase over present rates.

Trucks of under 7 ton registered capacity would not be touched. From seven to 10 tons, the increase would be 30 per cent, from 11 to 15 tons, 50 per cent, and from 16 to 20 tons, 50 per cent.

The legislature's revenue committee, with whom the public works group had been working on road legislation, passed a motion concurring in the new proposal.

The 1949 legislature approved an increase in truck fees. But the measure was repealed by the voters at the last general election.

Under the new proposal, all pasenger car registration fees would be $5.

Columbia Said Dickering For ABC Purchase

NEW YORK—(AP)—The New York Times said Thursday night there are reports that the Columbia Broadcasting System is considering purchase of the American Broadcasting Co. for about $28,000,000.

In a story by Jack Gould, The Times said Frank Stanton, CBS president, and Robert E. Kintner, ABC president, flatly refused to discuss the reports.

The newspaper said, however, that parties close to the principals involved were unusually guarded in their comment, and quoted one as saying there had been "conversations" between the two chains.

The Times said CBS is interested in the purchase because of its desire to improve its positions in television.

General Opens Bare-Knuckle Attack On Truman's Policies

Vice Admiral Davis Screens Testimony Of Gen. MacArthur

When Vice Admiral Arthur C. Davis was interviewed by a Star reporter Wednesday, the former Lincoln resident said he had been forced to cancel two Omaha speeches when urgent orders came from Washington.

What those orders were was revealed in an Associated Press story Thursday. One paragraph read:

"Vice Admiral Arthur C. Davis, staff director of the joint chiefs of staff, would screen MacArthur's testimony and remove any matter containing military secrets 'by actually cutting it out with a razor blade.'"

Mac Still Feels Red China Could Be Forced To Sue For Peace If All-Out Air Attacks Launched Against Her

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur warned Thursday that unless red China is beaten into surrender by all-out air attacks the Korean conflict may explode into a third World war.

He told senators the course being followed by the Truman administration may be "inviting" another war rather than avoiding it. And he strongly urged the use of air power, a naval blockade of the China coast, and the use of Chinese nationalist troops.

Calling the Korean war a "dreadful conflict" which is costing too much in American blood, he lined up directly against President Truman's policy of trying to limit the war to Korea.

"I believe," he said, "the chances of the terrible conflict you so rightfully dread—and all of the rest of us dread with you —would be more probable if we practice appeasement in one area."

It was a bare-knuckle attack on the administration all the way. And the general said thousands of Americans will be killed each month unless red China is strangled by air and seapower.

NO U. S. PLAN, HE SAYS.

He told senators there is no end in sight to the blood-letting in Korea because the government has no policy or plan.

"I suggest," he said, "that some plan be carried out that will bring this dreadful slaughter to a definite end—that we shall not continue to buy time x x x by sacrificing thousands of American boys every month."

The Truman administration has rejected his proposals, expressing fear they would lead to World war III. But MacArthur too! the position that Russia was in no shape to launch all-out war in Asia, and that the administration course is one of "appeasement."

His critical appeal came at the conclusion of more than six hours of testimony behind closed doors with the senate armed services foreign relations committees.

HE DOES THE TALKING.

He began testifying at 8:30 a. m. (CST), and except for a brief lunch period talked steadily until 4:15 p. m. (CST). He agreed to return Friday at 8:30 a. m. (CST) for further testimony.

MacArthur did most of the talking throughout the day and he pulled no punches in wading into the administration. He said President Truman "jeopardized" the nation's security by firing him from his Far Eastern commands.

"I don't think there is any question that the interest of the United States was jeopardized in such a summary mode of turning over great responsibilities which involve the security of the country."

MacArthur expressed firm belief that red China could be forced to sue for peace if all-out air attacks were launched against her and if Chinese nationalists now bottled up on the island of Formosa were used against her.

The Truman administration has refused to countenance such steps, expressing fear they would lead to World war III. MacArthur took the position that Russia was in no shape to launch all-out war in Asia.

SAYS RED CHINA WEAK.

He said red China is "militarily weak" and added:

"I believe when you hit her base potential, she would be forced to stop her aggression in Korea. I believe under those conditions she would take a reasonable cease-fire procedure . . .

"I do say unhesitatingly that with the power that we could bring against her with our air and navy, with the assistance of the ground forces that the nationalists might summon, that I believe we can force her to stop her aggression in Korea."

At the white house, President Truman asked the country not to make up its mind in the fight until all the evidence is in. And then the president got in a lick of his own.

He told a news conference that MacArthur refused to permit the central intelligence agency (CIA) to operate in Tokyo until he was persuaded by the agency's chief, Gen. Walter Bedell Smith.

But the spotlight shifted only momentarily from MacArthur.

The 71-year-old general bitterly protested the directives which prevented him from turning loose his air power against the Chinese reds last fall and hitting the enemy in Manchuria.

He declared his army could have whipped the Chinese last November if he had been free to use his air force as he wished.

"I haven't the faintest doubt that we would have thrown them back," he told the committees which are investigating the administration's entire Far Eastern policy and the dispute which led to MacArthur's dismissal.

CLAIMS STAFF BACKING

The Chinese moved into North Korea last fall and in late November drove the United Nations forces into a bloody and costly retreat. That was when MacArthur began advocating the bombing of Chinese red bases in Manchuria, which he called a "privileged sanctuary."

He testified under oath Thursday that the joint chiefs of staff prepared a study last January containing the same Korean war plans which he had advocated—and which led to his dismissal by President Truman.

He added that he must "assume" this JCS study—which he produced to back up his claim—was vetoed either by President Truman or Secretary of Defense Marshall.

The general made his statements behind closed doors. But a transcript of his testimony—with some deletions—was given to reporters at intervals. The pruning was done by a military censor, who had a state department official as adviser.

Inability To Face Moral Issues Hit

Social Worker Speaks At Welfare Conference

One of America's leading social workers declared Thursday night that organized crime, sub-standard housing, racial discrimination and — to a large extent—the spread of communism are caused by the inability of our people to face moral issues.

Dr. Eduard C. Lindeman, professor emeritus of social philosophy at the New York school of social work told the opening session of the 54th annual conference of the Nebraska Welfare association that communism is not a political or economic question, but a moral one.

About 150 persons had registered Thursday night as the three-day conference in the Cornhusker hotel.

'Undesirable Means'

Pointing out that the immorality of communism lies in the fact that it uses undesirable means to gain desirable ends, Dr. Lindeman warned, "we don't seem to be able to come to any conclusion as to what is the moral approach to fighting communism."

"There is an increased moral frustration of our citizens. We seem incapable of making moral decisions and so we postpone them." As a result of this postponement, he said, Americans have become cynical or seek to escape into perfectionism or mysticism—"the belief that they will someday escape into another, better world."

The world crisis is complicated by the rapidly increasing population in nearly all countries, and yet half of the world's peoples are under-fed and two-thirds are illiterate, Dr. Lindeman stated.

Fanaticism Hit

Fanaticism was given by the social worker as another feature of the times. It is characterized by the inability to accept any other view but one's own, he said.

Dr. Lindeman urged the organization to set three goals of social service in the war period: They are:

1. Child care.
2. Attention to family breakdown and housing.
3. Service to the nation's "disturbed youth."

The delegates were welcomed by mayor Victor Anderson, prior to the main address.

Weather Outlook Nice

Eastern Nebraska farmers, behind on spring work because of previous rainy and cold weather, may get a chance to get into the fields Friday.

More mild and spring-like weather was forecast by the weather bureau, with partly cloudy skies and high temperatures in the seventies.

Roads in southeastern Nebraska, which were closed by heavy rains early in the week, were all reported open again Thursday, according to the state highway patrol in Lincoln. Highway 67 south of Nemaha was reopened Thursday afternoon.

The Missouri and Nemaha rivers, which were on rampages following the heavy rains, were dropping rapidly Thursday night.

Colorful Tulips Herald Spring's Return

SPRING FEVER—Barbara Finley, University of Nebraska coed from Grand Island, takes time out from her studies to admire some of the colorful tulips blooming in Lincoln's Antelope park. (Star Photo.)

Like all good gardeners in the spring, City Florist F. J. Sienknecht has waited impatiently for the first flare of color from his flowers.

This week the color came—from off-white and pink and yellow to the purples and reds—in the tulip beds Sienknecht planted at the Zoological building last fall.

There are 5,000 tulip bulbs in all. However, some of them were set-out at the rock garden at Twenty-seventh and D.

Sienknecht said the tulips started blooming earlier this week, yet only half of them have blossomed.

This means there will probably be three weeks of good blooming left, he said.

Before the tulips give out, Sienknecht said he expects the annuals such as Sweet alyssum and double petunias to be in color.

By Decoration day he expects some of his 1,500 roses to start blooming.

He said two varieties that should be particularly good this year are the "Sutter's gold" and "Bravo."

Doctor's Wife Works As Liaison Officer

BY DICK FENSLER
(Star Staff Writer)

What do doctors' wives do while their husbands are busy with their practices?

One doctor's wife, Mrs. Theodore Heinz, whose husband practices internal medicine and gastro-enterology at the Greeley, Colo., clinic, works as a liaison officer between her husband's profession and the public.

Mrs. Heinz is the national public relations director of the woman's auxiliary to the American Medical association.

In Lincoln for a brief visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Amen, 601 D street, Mrs. Heinz told the Star that it is her job to promote health education by visiting the various state medical societies and their auxiliaries and by telling the public the story of American medicine.

Grass Roots Level

"We feel," the graduate of the University of Nebraska school of nursing said, "that at the grass roots level we can do much to inform the lay public of the many health facilities and services available for good medical care, particularly through their own personal physician.

MRS. THEODORE HEINZ

"We also believe that more people should avail themselves of volunteer health insurance plans so that the financial burdens of medical care may be met more easily. To date, 70,000,000 persons do have some form of health insurance coverage which would seem to indicate that people in general do not want any medical care which would involve federal aid or federal control."

Public Relations

Another phase of her work, Mrs. Heinz said, was developing better public relations between the A.M.A. auxiliary and all other women's organizations. This phase is also carried out by visiting the state groups at their conventions. She had attended the convention of the Nebraska State Medical society in Omaha.

Mrs. Heinz will return to Greeley for four weeks and then attend the A.M.A. convention at Atlantic City.

Dr. Heinz, a 1928 graduate of the Nebraska school of medicine, and Mrs. eHinz have a son and a daughter. The son is finishing his freshman year at the University of Chicago and plans to enter the medical profession. The daughter is a sophomore in high school.

"Americans Too Fat," Gymnast Believes

A 69-year-old Swedish physical culture expert Thursday admonished Americans for their poor physical condition.

"I can't understand the old people here," said trim Mrs. Maja Carlquist.

"They go so," she said. Then she demonstrated what she meant by stooping her erect shoulders and taking a few plodding steps.

"And the youth—they have too much fat."

Mrs. Carlquist was in Lincoln Thursday with her "Sofiaflickorna" (girl gymnasts) of Stockholm, Sweden.

The group, which has won world-wide acclaim, has been touring the United States since March 20.

But what's the reason for America's "unfitness"—no "Sofiaflickornia?"

Partly so, answered Mrs. Carlquist. But Americans also eat too much fat meat, she added.

She explained that gymnastics hold a major spot in Swedish schools.

And, she added, gymnastics in America doesn't resemble gymnastics in Sweden in the slightest.

"You haven't got gymnastics in America," she said.

What would you call it then, she was asked.

"I don't call it at all," Mrs. Carlquist replied.

The founder of "Sofiaflickorna" was asked to demonstrate Swedish gymnastics for the cameraman.

But she refused. "My clothes are not right," she explained.

Mrs. Herman G. Nelson, Rockford, Ill., tour representative, said that some Americans who watch the girls perform compare it to dancing.

Mrs. Carlquist said there were two basic movements—"to loosen and to stretch, to loosen to get the least possible tension and to stretch to build up posture."

The party of 13 girls and their leader paid a visit to Gov. Peterson where Mrs. Carlquist and the governor traded honors.

Peterson made Mrs. Carlquist an admiral in the Nebraska navy, while Mrs. Carlquist presented the governor with a Sofiaflickorna" honor medal.

The group also met another Scandinavian while in Lincoln—Mayor Victor Anderson who had lunch with them.

They went back to Omaha, where they performed Thursday afternoon.

Fisher Praises American Courts

The courts of the United States, in the estimation of Municipal Judge Edward C. Fisher, are the bulwark of democracy.

"It is important that people respect their courts," Judge Fisher said Thursday before a joint meeting of the Lincoln Lions and Sertoma clubs, "for in so doing they are showing respect for democracy."

Our courts are set up to do justice to both parties in a dispute, he explained. They are not like the Russian courts which are solely interested in furthering party aims.

"With world conditions as they are, we must face the facts," he cautioned, "and decide whether we are to make the effort to save democracy as we know it."

Russell Mattson introduced the speaker.

April Post Office Receipts Increase

Lincoln post office receipts for April showed an increase of $13,647.17 over the same month a year ago, according to local postal authorities.

Receipts for April, 1951, were $175,126.80, compared to $161,479.63 in April, 1950.

Sales of U. S. savings bonds fared badly, showing an approximate 50 per cent drop. In April, 1950, $50,400 in bonds were sold. Last month only $25,293.75 worth were sold.

New postal savings accounts opened decreased by three over the 1950 total of 60. Account deposits were also down. April, 1950, deposits totaled $5,994,246, compared to $5,290,827 for April of this year.

Money orders issued in April, 1951, totaled $179,316.17, compared to the 1950 total of $156,684.98.

Seven University Students Nabbed In Paint Splashing

Seven boys, reportedly members of T.N.E., an "underground" society on the University of Nebraska campus, were arrested by Lincoln police early Thursday as they were splashing their symbols in paint along Sixteenth street's fraternity row.

The boys spent about four hours in jail, and then were released by Police Chief Joe Carroll to T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs.

No charges were made at the police station.

Dean Thompson declined to say what disciplinary action would be taken.

"I don't propose to wash dirty linen in public," he said. "This is a university matter and I have no comment."

While the paint daubing boys were actually caught by city police, their capture was plotted by Sgt. John Furrow, head of the university police detail.

Furrow said he had hired six extra city police for the past two weeks to help patrol the campus from midnight till dawn.

He explained that the T.N.E.'s usually do most of their damage just before the homecoming celebration and before either Engineers' day or Ivy day.

Before they were caught Thursday, the boys had smeared their name and symbols on the sidewalks, porches, walls, benches and doors of nearly every fraternity and sorority house on the campus.

Chester Billings, director of campus beautification and upkeep, estimated the cost of cleaning up the mess at $150.

For the past two years, he said, T.N.E. pranks have cost the university about $150 a year.

During 1947 and '48, however, the damage ran to $500, he said. Some of the paint ate so deeply into the university memorial columns that it never could be removed.

Furrow has three regular night men patroling the campus. Most of their trouble, he said, comes from T.N.E. activity.

One sorority house mother, who witnessed a T.N.E. performance, described it this way:

"I heard a commotion outside on the front porch about three in the morning. I looked out and saw a bunch of boys, dressed mostly in army fatigues, painting skulls and cross bones on the porch.

"I shouted for them to go away. One of them held his body across the window to block the view. However, I did see whisky and beer bottles, and, of course, they talked and acted as though they had been drinking."

A sampling of fraternity and sorority houses showed this damage:

Kappa Delta sorority, 405 University Terrace: One new and four old skulls painted on the front porch, three skulls painted on the side porch, and red paint dripped onto the hall carpet.

Delta Gamma sorority, 400 University Terrace: A total of eight skulls and two big red dots painted on the front porch.

Chi Omega sorority, 480 North Sixteenth: A skull and intials on the stoop, a red dot on the wall, along with three more skulls.

Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity, 733 North Sixteenth: Skull and cross bones on walk leading to door, four skulls painted on porch.

Sgt. Furrow said every fraternity and sorority house along Sixteenth had the walks leading to the front door painted with the skull and cross bones. Most walls and door ways were painted, too, he said.

Plans Discussed For Cooper Park; 3 Ball Diamonds

The city recreation board held a further discussion Thursday on the future development of the Joseph H. Cooper park, formerly F street park.

City Recreation Director Jimmy Lewis presented an outline of some minor changes in the original development plans, including three ball diamonds instead of one.

Lewis said he has also planned to secure some expert advice on furnishing facilities for the $35,000 building program.

A number of representatives of the Park school appeared before the board in regard to improvements at the park in that area.

Rate Hike Is Main Issue In NPPS Contract

The city's power committee was told Thursday by City Attorney John Jacobson and Engineer D. L. Erickson that a proposed increase in rates on its present power contract was the main problem involved in making a new contract with the Nebraska Public Power system.

Jacobson and Erickson were in Grand Island Wednesday conferring with NPPS officials in an effort to settle the contract issue. The city's present contract with NPPS for hydroelectric power is good for 16 months yet, but the system is attempting to negotiate a new agreement.

The increased rates on the time left for the present contract would be in the form of a rider clause in the new contract which results in making the proposed new rates retroactive to cover the remaining 16 months.

"There has been no meeting of minds," between the city and the system, said Mayor Anderson. It is still hoped something will be worked out.

There is also a legal question involved, he said, as to whether or not the city can give up its present contract for one less favorable.

The rates proposed by NPPS would result in an estimated added cost to the city of $45,000 a year. The city buys about one-third of its power from the hydros.

TOOK NOTES ON WAKE ISLAND—Vernice Anderson, state department secretary and former Omahan, poses Thursday in her Washington office after she told how she sat behind a slatted door during the Wake island conference and made stenographic notes while Gen. Douglas MacArthur, President Truman and their aides talked. The only woman at the island meeting, Miss Anderson said she took notes automatically, "under no one's instructions." What Abuses Must Democracy Avoid?

By J. Gordon Roberts

What are the abuses to avoid in a democratic society? How may they be prevented?

Such abuses as occur under freedom have been largely the consequence of irrational thinking.

As previously stated, under freedom there can be no segregation of opportunity by economic groups.

During the Industrial Revolution, for example, employers often denied their workers, in effect, the freedom of choice which they demanded for themselves. Children were ruthlessly exploited.

As Abraham Lincoln pointed out, a civilization may not continue half-slave and half-free. But, during the Industrial Revolution, employers operated under freedom, whereas employees too often operated under the virtual enslavement of an a-equals-c formula.

Such division could not, of course, persist in a free society.

Without describing the situation in mathematical terms, reformers of the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries pointed out that workers were living under a virtual slave or a-equals-c economy. Their error, in my judgment, lay in the contention that all society should be placed under a governmentally-controlled a-equals-c economy.

In other words, in my opinion, their recommended remedy, carried to its culmination, amounted to placing all society under the conditions to be cured.

Majority Of Jefferson Farms Equipped With Electricity

Many Minus Telephones In County

Latest Census Survey Shows

(By the Associated Press)

Of the 1,432 farms in Nebraska's Jefferson county, 1,271 had electricity but only 766 had telephones as of census time last year.

The figures were contained Thursday in census bureau reports of farm characteristics in various Nebraska counties. These reports are being prepared for every county in the nation.

Fairbury is the Jefferson county seat.

Farm Total Down

The number of farms decreased from 1,540 in 1945 to 1,432 in 1950. Eighty-three farms were less than 10 acres in size, and 10 were over 1,000 acres in size.

Of the total farms in Jefferson county, 526 had motor trucks, 1,186 had tractors, 1,331 had automobiles, 125 had milking machines, 776 had grain combines, 396 had corn pickers, 1,066 had electric washing machines.

The average distance to the trading center visited most frequently was six miles for Jefferson county farmers.

The value of Jefferson county farm products sold in 1949 was $7,519,414, compared to $5,696,390 in 1944.

Reports on other counties included these facts:

ACCURATE RUNOFF MEASUREMENTS—This v-notch in a dainage and water stage recorders in the shelter houses are part of the numerous devices at the Hastings SCS experiment station that measure accurately the effect of soil conservation practices on the runoff of rainfall on sloping land. (SCS Photo.)

Soil Conservation Work Pays Off

Here are some of the first answers to a question farmers have been asking for a long time—exactly how much additional rainfall will soil conservation practices hold on farmlands? Or, the story told by SCS Project Supervisor John Allis could be called: "How to get from $7.20 to $10.80 per acre more each year from cornland."

Corn raised under conservation methods last year at the soil conservation service experiment station near Hastings, where a number of complete watersheds have been tested for four years, was worth from $7.20 to $10.80 per acre more at harvest time than corn raised by up-and-down hill farming. Total corn production during the four years from conservation farming is over 22 per cent more than from straight-row farming.

Representative Projects

Up-and-down hill, contour and subsurface-tillage farming are being practiced on 21 watersheds of four acres each by the SCS in co-operation with the University of Nebraska experiment station. Allis described the watersheds as "alike as peas in a pod," and selected as representative of the central great plains. Topography is rolling soil on the heavy side, with ground water levels 50 feet or more below the surface.

Corn yields from duplicate watersheds farmed up-and-down hill averaged 26.6 bushels to the acre last year, while corn on land subsurface-tilled on the contour produced 33.8 bushels an acre and contoured corn produced 31.4 bushels.

Subsurface-tilled watersheds topped contour farming in corn yields twice, the project supervisor pointed out—by two and a half bushels an acre in 1950 and by one bushel in 1948. In 1949, however, the contured fields beat subsurface-tilling by five bushels an acre and in 1947 by a fifth of a bushel.

Runoff Measured

Rainfall runoff, measured during July 8-9 and September 19-20 storms last year, gave these results: one of the 6.02 inches of rain on the unprotected watershed, 2.65 inches ran off while only 2.21 inches of runoff occurred from the 6.35 inches on the watershed having conservation practices applied. Over three-fourths of an inch more rain was saved, and runoff was generally at a slower rate than from the unprotected fields.

The SCS project supervisor pointed out that measurements on the two large watersheds are for determining accurately what has been often observed—that conservation will hold more water on the land and slow down the excess on its way to the river and creeks.

Grain Should Be Readied For Loading

State Railway Commission Chairman Richard H. Larson Thursday warned that grain now in storage which must be moved should be made available for immediate loading.

Commenting on the grain box car situation, Larson added:

"Muddy roads and weather have slowed up the movement of grain to market at a time when our railroads have cars available."

Pointing out that since the 1950 harvest Nebraska grain producers and shippers "have suffered a most severe, costly and continuous car shortage," he said that the 1951 harvest will again "be a strain on the supply of . . . cars.

"Moving grain now will reduce harvest time shortage. Shipping grain while cars are available will ease future burdens of producers, shippers and railroads.

Panhandle Wheat Needs Moisture

SIDNEY, Neb. — (AP) — If Nebraska panhandle wheat is going to approach a normal yield, it's going to need timely moisture from now until the latter part of June.

That's the report after a spot check of fields in this area.

Already plagued by lack of rain, the wheat farmers saw their crops lashed by a 50-mile-an-hour wind over the week end. There was only a trace of rainfall with the wind, a lot less than the amount needed to offset the wind damage.

Evelyn Peterson Heads Tri-County N.U. Alum Group

University of Nebraska alumni in Gosper, Phelps and Kearney counties have organized an alumni club and applied for a charter in the University's Alumni association, John F. Lawlor, Lincoln, association president, reported Friday.

Miss E. Evelyn Peterson of Bertrand is president of the Tri-County Alumni club. Other officers: Ted Frogge, Elwood, vice president, and Harold Pedley, Minden, secretary-treasurer.

The club's charter application will be acted upon at the June meeting of the association's executive committee, Mr. Lawlor said. The club was organized this week at a meeting in Holdrege. Former Cornhuskers from Minden, Bertrand, Loomis, Atlanta and Holdrege attended the organization meeting. Dr. Carl Georgi, university bacteriologist, and Fritz Daly, association secretary, addressed the group.

Mr. Daly said another alumni club charter has been approved and was presented to the Midland Empire Alumni club at Billings this week. The two new clubs raises the total in the U.S. to 45. Others are now being organized.

EDGAR, Neb.—New superintendent of the Edgar high school for the coming year will be Kurtis W. Bowden, 38, head of the Stapleton schools for the past six years.

Bowden served as superintendent of the Taylor, Neb., schools prior to going to Stapleton. He succeeds Marvin R. Stovall in the Edgar post. Stovall has accepted a similar position at Alma.

Gas Well Ready For Production

CHAPPELL, Neb. — (AP) — A gas well, described as one of the best yet drilled in Deuel county, is ready to be placed on a production schedule.

The well was drilled by the Patton Drilling company for the Superior Oil company on the I. H. Koehler farm. It is located ¾ mile from the Reese well, one of four producing gas wells in the county.

Evidence of gas also was reported to have been discovered on the Zimmerman farm where the Dunbar Drilling company has a contract. However, observers said further drilling would be done. The Zimmerman farm is 16 miles northeast of Chappell.

When Military Experts Disagree

The preliminaries, setting the stage for the hearing before the senate armed services and foreign relations committees on Far Eastern policy, were not too promising.

★

Chairman Russell made public contents of a highly-controversial, secret report on China which General Wedemeyer made to President Truman in 1947. In that report (before Chiang and his nationalist government were chased off the Chinese mainland by the communists), Wedemeyer sounded a grim warning of impending trouble in the Orient. Then to pave the way for General MacArthur's testimony before the congressional body, Chairman Russell also made public a report dealing with President Truman's conference with General Douglas MacArthur at Wake early last fall. General MacArthur made light of both the likelihood and the military importance of intervention in the Korean war by the Chinese communists. MacArthur told the president, the memorandum issued by the joint chiefs of staff shows, that if there were to be intervention in Korea by the Chinese communists, it would have had to come in the first two months to mean anything. The ousted commander of the Pacific was likewise on record in his own words as discounting Russian intervention in the Korean struggle.

★

The two developments, one following upon the heels of the other, could be highly disillusioning to the American people. They reveal an element of partisanship in the "Great Debate" that we think the man on the street, or his wife, his mother, or his sweetheart, will deplore. An element within the republican party, for which Senator Wherry and Senator Taft generally speak, seizes upon the Wedemeyer report as proof that the president and the state department played squarely into the hands of the communists. Yet that same element chooses to ignore that two years later, General MacArthur, the Pacific commander, directing occupation in Japan, in charge of the United Nations soldiers in the field, assured Mr. Truman there was nothing to fear from Chinese intervention, and that if it did come, it would be of no military importance. At Wake the president was told by General MacArthur that early victory in Korea could be anticipated, that within a short time after his offensive had driven to the Manchurian border, it would be possible to return the "boys home" and dispatch the flower of MacArthur's fighting soldiers to western Europe.

★

The public, then, is asked to believe: (a) Wedemeyer's warning should have reshaped American foreign policy in the Far East; (b) General MacArthur's reassuring words to President Truman two years later should have been brushed aside in the light of what actually happened later.

★

On this page today, Marquis Childs points out that the hearings which got under way could place the Korean war in a new objective light, if the partisans on each side would abandon their efforts to make political capital. We gain nothing by undertaking to weigh the military wisdom of General MacArthur on one side of the scales against the joint chiefs of staff on the other. We think that it can be admitted that General MacArthur is wholly sincere in expressing his views; that the joint chiefs of staff are equally sincere in disagreeing. Childs points out that the sum total of MacArthur's position is that by adopting his view, a quick victory could be procured at a saving of lives. The joint chiefs of staff take the position that the steps advocated by MacArthur would mean commitment of much more of America's armed strength for an indefinite period in Asia, gravely weakening America's position in the world.

★

One does not need to be a military expert to recall Japan's experience in China. It had little difficulty in subjugating southeast China. It won whenever it could catch up with the retreating Chinese, but after a 2,000-mile pursuit, it lost. And Japan had a modern army, well equipped, well-trained, strong in the air and strong in mechanized armor. It was only a few miles away, unburdened with the immense problems of transport of men and supplies to China.

★

The basic question of the controversy goes simply to expanding the Asiatic war. General MacArthur was wrong about Chinese intervention, 100 per cent wrong about its military significance. His immediate reaction to the memorandum issued by the joint chiefs of staff was disappointing. Those who are most active in promoting "MacArthurism" at this time — or those on the other side most vehement in denouncing it—should keep in mind that what got under way Thursday and what shall develop in the next few weeks will have a tremendous bearing upon the attitude of people and governments in Europe and Asia. Disagreements between military men are not uncommon. When they are permitted to divide and disrupt a nation—a nation as powerful as the United States —then it is tragic.

Up To His Ears In Tears

We confess to a very great distaste for being drawn into the post mortem that has become a regular feature of a column in a Lincoln evening newspaper. Obviously its author is up to his ears in tears.

★

But there is such a thing as keeping the record straight. And keeping the record straight, in this case, is very simple. One of the chief moans from one of the promoters of the Salt-Wahoo "model" watershed bill is the fact that the Public Works committee, when it voted to indefintiely postpone the bill, balloted secretly. The rules governing the Nebraska unicameral legislature are in written form (printed). They cover legislative action in the committee as well as on the floor. Under the rules of the Nebraska legislature (published in 1950), Rule 6, dealing with committee hearings and reports, on page 11 of the printed rules, reads:

"Section 5. Record of Committee Proceedings. Each standing committee shall keep a record of its proceedings. Any two members of the committee may demand a roll call upon the reporting of any bill, or upon amendments thereto. The vote so taken shall be made a part of the committee report and shall be entered in the daily journal."

★

The watershed proposal was killed in the committee by a vote of 6 to 3. It was indefinitely postponed because the majority thought the bill was carelessly drawn, because it contained far-reaching grants of power, because a substantial majority of the committee concluded, and in our judgment decided soundly, that before giving this promotion legal status the requested powers should be subjected to painstaking study. Six of a committee of nine members were in favor of indefinite postponement at this time. Three of the nine members voted against indefinite postponement. All of the nine members joined in a spirit of unanimity in recommending the measure for careful, detailed study by the legislative council. The only time there was a motion before the committee to report the bill out to the general file, it was defeated seven to two.

★

Now to get back to the tears and moans, any two of the three members of the committee opposing indefinite postponement could have asked for a record roll call if they had any misgivings about whether the chairman, Senator Otto Prohs, reported results of the ballot correctly, whether any shenanigans were going on, or simply to satisfy themselves. Clearly the three members of the Public Works committee opposed to killing the bill at this time were fully satisfied with proceedings.

★

Chairman Prohs, Senator "Bill" Hern and Senator W. J. Williams have been unjustly criticized. Prohs, upon whom the bulk of the wrath has descended, is a most kindly, most conscientious, most fair legislator.

★

It would be funny if it were not a little bit sad. The disconsolate promoter of this model watershed bill may be wholly unconscious of it, but if his tears continue to fall, he may become a distinct flood menace himself!

Burney and Prohs

The Nebraska unicameral took time out Thursday to honor two of its veteran members.

It selected Senator Dwight Burney, of Hartington, to serve as chairman of the legislative council throughout the next two years; Senator Otto Prohs, of Gering, as vice-chairman. Their election to the two important posts in the legislative council is a gratifying expression of confidence on the part of their colleagues, and was well deserved.

Both men are hard workers, long experienced in the grind of legislative labors, self-sacrificing in their application to duties, careful and painstaking in study and research. They, in a very large measure, will be responsible for the direction and supervision of the activities of the legislative council over the next year and a half. They have taken on jobs which call for extra time and energy in the spirit that has characterized them at all times during their legislative service.

More and more, the place of the legislative council is becoming recognized. It is an invaluable aid to the careful consideration of problems that affect state government.

The President's Burdens

The suggestion made by Marquis Childs on this page a few days ago that a commission be formed to study the office of the president of the United States, its functions and responsibilities, has drawn editorial commendation across the country. It is significant that some newspapers which do not carry his excellent syndicated column also joined in praise of the proposal.

Childs pointed out that the duties entailed in the presidency have become so burdensome that no man can stand up under the strain over a four-year period without undergoing extreme physical punishment. The American president, he wrote, must carry out virtually all the functions assumed by at least two public officials in Britain and France. The days when Calvin Coolidge could enjoy a regular afternoon nap in the White House are past; the tempo has speeded up in the intervening years and the president must now gear himself to a rigorous daily schedule.

Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois, prominently mentioned as a presidential possibility, recently drew up a formula for the man for the job: He must be bold and popular as Theodore Roosevelt, must have the brooding qualities of Lincoln, the philosophical depths of Jefferson, the sturdiness of Cleveland, the daring of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the patience of Job, and the physique of a Sandow.

That kind of man isn't, and won't be, available. The pattern of the office, as Mark Childs suggests, should be cut to fit the man who is elected to it.

MacARTHUR'S VIEW OF CHIANG KAI-SHEK HAS BEEN CHANGED

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Nine months before the Korean war General MacArthur predicted that the Chinese communists could be "easily defeated in any major conflict" and remarked that Chiang Kai-shek "knew nothing about the art of warfare."

These amazing statements, exactly the opposite of what MacArthur now professes to believe, are contained in a secret report to President Truman, submitted by Congress man Charles Deane of North Carolina in September, 1949. Deane was head of a congressional delegation which called on MacArthur in Tokyo to get his views.

Deane reported MacArthur as believing that the "Chinese reds were greatly overrated and could be easily defeated in any major conflict." Also that the "Soviets were powerless to conduct a full-scale war on the China mainland."

But the most remarkable statement was MacArthur's reference to invasion of the Chinese mainland.

Deane quoted MacArthur directly as saying: "I consider Chiang a highly intelligent leader. But he knows nothing about the art of war. He is surrounded by corrupt officials and generals. His troops are very ineffective and poorly equipped."

As another example of MacArthur as a military prophet, Deane reported to the president: "MacArthur said he did not think the North Koreans would overrun the South Koreans, but that the United States would have to support South Korea in the event of trouble."

The North Carolina congressman also reported that it was MacArthur's view that Russia had nothing to gain by taking over South Korea. And that Russia was most interested in Asia in order to gain access to a warm-water port on the Indian ocean.

NOTE: In a separate memo attached to Deane's secret report to the president, the North Carolinian also complained about Maj. Gen. Charles Willoughby, MacArthur's heel-clicking intelligence chief who has now asked to be retired. At a military briefing, Deane reported, Willoughby used a full colonel as a messenger boy to juggle the charts and snapped his fingers every time he wanted the colonel to remove a chart. Deane also complained that Willoughby always seemed to be on the tennis court when the congressional delegation was looking for him.

—INTERESTING QUOTATION—

President Truman was all set to answer General MacArthur with his own words at a press conference called just after the general was fired.

Mr. Truman had an interesting quotation from MacArthur neatly typed out on a piece of paper and tucked inside his coat pocket when the press conference started, and he planned to read it if newsmen asked him about the man he had just fired. But at the last minute the president changed his mind.

However, here is MacArthur's own statement about the supremacy of the president, which the president almost read, and which was made by MacArthur in 1932:

"The national strategy of any war—that is, the selection of national objectives and the determination of the general means and methods to be applied in attaining them, as well as the development of the broad policies applicable to the prosecution of the war—are decisions that must be made by the head of state . . . Coordinating army and navy effort could not be delegated by the commander-in-chief to any subordinate authority. Any such attempt would not constitute delegation but rather abdication."

☆ ☆ ☆

—MILITARY VINDICATION—

Whether you are for General MacArthur or not, it is almost certain that from a strictly military long-range point of view he will win the present argument. No matter how you slice your bread in Korea, MacArthur will probably end up with the buttered side. Here is the reason why:

Unless the U. N. wins an outstanding and easy victory, which isn't likely, there are three possible military alternatives:

1—We will have to withdraw from Korea altogether. This will be considered a victory for MacArthur, since his proponents will argue that if we had bombed Manchurian bases we would not have had to withdraw.

2—There will be a stalemate. In this case MacArthur will also be considered right in the eyes of many, who will argue that if we had bombed Chinese bases and used Chiang Kai-shek's troops, there would have been no stalemate.

3—We will bomb Chinese bases. U. N. leaders have come part way around toward doing this if, and it's an important if, red China starts a real air offensive. In this case again, MacArthur will be considered the winner of the argument.

NOTE—Chief factor in Korea which many people lose sight of is that use of an international police force which we have in Korea is bound to be difficult. The operation of the allied command in 1917 and in 1942-45 was also difficult. Too many people have to be consulted.

JOINT CHIEFS KNOW RESULTS OF JAPAN'S ATTACK ON CHINA

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON. — The senate inquiry now beginning could serve to put the Korean war in a new and objective light. That is to say, it could if the partisans on each side were not so determined to score points off each other in an atmosphere more like a civil war than a rational effort to determine the facts.

Marquis Childs

As the investigation develops, it is likely to shape into a trial of the military wisdom of General MacArthur on the one hand and the joint chiefs of staff on the other. This is bound to distort the facts and feed the partisan fires so that the net result will be more heat and less understanding.

None but the blindest partisan could argue that all virtue was on one side or the other. And the kind of partisanship that haggles over whether the JCS were in agreement with MacArthur at this or that given point will serve merely to inflame tempers further. Undoubtedly they were in agreement on many issues.

☆ ☆ ☆

The goal of the joint chiefs is to try to show as objectively as possible that there are two strategies for Asia, a MacArthur strategy and a JCS strategy, and the differences between these strategies and how they relate to our national security. With such a presentation before them, the American people will be able to reach their own conclusions.

The fundamental divergence of these two strategies is over widening the war now going on. The joint chiefs probably would agree with MacArthur that bombing attacks on Manchuria and a blockade of the China coastline would not bring Soviet Russia into the war. This is one of the points MacArthur has stressed in his public speeches.

But MacArthur intimates — in his talk in Chicago he came close to saying it directly — that his strategy would bring a quick victory and the saving of American lives. Here, as the inquiry may develop, is perhaps the major difference in the thinking of two sides.

☆ ☆ ☆

Conceding that Soviet Russia would not come into the conflict, the JCS nevertheless believe that to take the steps advocated by MacArthur would mean the commitment of much more of America's armed strength and for an indefinite period to Asia. The belief is that American power, both in being and still to come off the assembly line, would be increasingly sucked into the China venture and that thereby America's position in the world would be gravely weakened.

It is just at this point that some documentation could be very useful in pointing up recent history The files of the defense department show how the Japanese were committed to throwing more and more of their power into the Chinese morass.

Japan developed one of the most powerful military machines ever put together. It was backed by a warlike aggressiveness that characterized almost every level of the population.

☆ ☆ ☆

Yet once locked in combat with the Chinese dragon, the Japs were forced to commit ever larger resources. This was true even in the face of the greater war that they precipitated with the attack at Pearl Harbor. Victory and an end of their Chinese involvement became more and more a phantom leading to greater losses of blood and treasure.

In the Pentagon careful analyses of Japanese secret files show this story with what the JCS believe to be uncontestable conclusiveness. And compared to the United States, Japan was next door to China with no need to carry men and materiel across thousands of miles of ocean.

☆ ☆ ☆

To help catch America in such a trap would seem to fit perfectly into Russia's scheme of world domination. Without partcipating directly, the Soviets could furnish the communist Chinese with enough arms to keep them going. This is exactly what is happening in Korea today. To produce the same situation on a scale anywhere through 10 to 20 times larger can hardly seem a desirable result.

How long the present investigation will go on no one can say. It will probably continue at least through this month. To those who realize the picture that it presents to the world of an America torn and divided, bleeding from self-inflicted wounds, it is a source of great depression. It was put this way by one who has tried from the republican side of the fence to keep an area of agreement in the approach to foreign policy:

"We are committing hara-kiri in front of the rest of the world. While we prosecute our civil war at home we are losing Iran, India, large areas of the earth vital to us in peace or in war. If you ask me where it will lead, I cannot tell you."

This may have been said in a moment of unwarranted gloom. But it is hard in view of what is happening to feel much optimism.

'We Are The People' . . . He's The Keeper Of A Popular Zoo

By BEVERLY LARSEN

It's not so much the young kids who are fascinated by the monkeys at Antelope Park zoo. You should see the older ones.

Harold Q. Harris, 1531 So. 18th street, in charge of the Antelope Park zoo, gets highly amused at the antics of the spectators outside the cages. But Harris should be used to them now. This is his seventeenth year with the zoo.

"You have to like animals and birds to want a job like this," Harris said. "Sometimes I feel as though I'm the one caged up."

☆ ☆ ☆

Although Harris has always liked animals and most of those at Antelope Park zoo are relatively tame, some of the older ones bear watching.

"As they get older, they're not what you'd call sociable," he said. "We've got some we never go in with."

There are a good many others besides Harris interested in the animal antics at the zoo. On a good Sunday, he pointed out, there are as many as two or three thousand persons in the building. With the exception of a few bird cages, outside facilities of the zoo are not in use—the result of a series of economy moves—but many visitors come to see the garden grounds around the zoo. They are located at 1300 So. 27th street.

Among the spectators, frequently, is the Harris family, consisting of Mrs. Harris and five children.

"They act just like all the rest," Mr. Harris said.

But none of his children have decided they want to be zookeepers yet.

☆ ☆ ☆

Harris tells of the lady last year who came and spent hours looking at various birds located in the big center cage. The cage contains artificial trees, a rock garden and a pool with about 25 gallons of water.

"After watching her there for that long, I thought she must really be interested in those birds," Mr. Harris said. "So I went up and asked her if she liked it."

Mr. Harris sighed. "Do you know what she said? 'Oh, it's lovely. But where are their little cups for drinking water.' "

FORWARD IN FAITH

Beaver City, Neb.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: The first thing I do when I open your good paper is to glance at the front headlines, then turn to "The People Speak" column and the feature, "We are the People."

My hobby has always been to help those in need, even since I was a child, and I am past three score and ten now, several years on borrowed time. My heart has always gone out to young people, and when I read of a generation of many doubts, I can hardly repress the tears.

Yes, we are living in a dark age, but we need not despair. I know from experience. Circumstances prevented me from going to school until I was ten years old and then only at intervals. I had to make my own way at sixteen, and let me state, it was the hard way, but I thank God today for it all. I was raised on the prairies of Kansas and friends have urged me to write a book about those pioneer days. I wish today's youngsters would remember this slogan: "Forward in faith, looking up, never down."

CODE HEADS

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: When the governor of Nebraska attempts to have a bill introduced in the legislature, which would be a violation of the constitution, one wonders just where we are headed. He wants to set up a cabinet of the code secretaries to meet with him once a week to map out administration policies. Possibly we need that because the governor is absent from the state so much of the time. The sole purpose is that the governor can raise the salaries of the code heads.

Why did the legislature in its wisdom raise their salaries when the constitution forbids it? There appears to be a mania to stick the taxpayers for more money, not taking into account the new taxes proposed by the federal government.

The governor says he can't keep code heads at present salaries. I haven't heard of any leaving, with the exception of Dr. Ryder. There are always those to fill the vacant places.

TO PRINT OR NOT TO PRINT

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: At the legislative hearing conducted recently on state assistance matters, Ted Yager of Richardson county declared: "I doubt very much that the federal government would withdraw its matching of funds if we made the names public." Well, Mr. Yeager and all those who possess a like notion might learn much if they will just step over the line into Kansas. That state has a provision making public the names of all those to whom county warrants have been issued the previous month.

But county boards which once printed those names on state assistance rolls no longer print them and thus make them public. Why? Because the federal government, after due warning and non-compliance, issued an edict that it would no longer match state funds down there for assistance until such publications ceased. Kansans cried that it was in their state constitution! But the federal government refused to listen. And so today county commissioners, through the advice of the attorney general, no longer print such names, but lump-sum the county payments.

Mr. Yager can just step over the line and find an answer to his suggestion. Personally, this writer is for it. He wants to do a little organizing among the old folks and he would like to get names.

CECIL E. MATTHEWS.

MILITARY MEN

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: A correspondent expresses fear of electing a military man for president. And why, pray? Some of the world's greatest and best statesmen were also great soldiers. Sweden's greatest king, Gustavus Adolphus, was one of the world's most brilliant generals, and also a wise and benevolent statesman. Under his leadership Sweden rose to be almost a world power. And there was Charles XIV, one-time field marshal under Napoleon Bonaparte, a great soldier and also a good and wise statesman. And what about some of our presidents? Some of the best of them were military men — George Washington, Andrew Jackson, James Garfield, William McKinley, Teddy Roosevelt.

I would not hesitate to vote for either Eisenhower or MacArthur for president, and I don't think our people would make a mistake by electing either one. The only objection I have to MacArthur is his age. A man past 70 is too old to be president, in my judgment. At this time in our history, we need a man like Abraham Lincoln, whether he is a democrat or a republican. And by the way, wasn't Abe Lincoln somewhat of a soldier?

President Challenges Statement Of Little Chance Of Red Fight

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A bristling President Truman said in short, barbed sentences Thursday that when all the facts are in, they will show he was right in firing Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Gen. Smith

He said MacArthur persuaded him at their Wake Island conference last October that the Chinese communists would not come into the Korean war.

And, by implication, he challenged MacArthur's statement to senate investigators that the central intelligence agency reported in November that there was "very little chance" of Chinese red intervention. It was in early November that the reds did strike.

No CIA Report

Mr. Truman told a news conference the CIA, top-level intelligence unit, made no such report to him—and he said the CIA reports to him daily and he reads its reports.

Besides, the president said MacArthur wouldn't let the CIA operate under his command until Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, head of the agency, made a special trip to Japan recently and persuaded MacArthur to let it operate.

As for MacArthur's statement to the senators that he doesn't think Russia is in any position to launch a "predatory attack from the Asiatic continent," the president said all he knew about that was what he had seen in the papers.

Parried Question Barrage.

Mr. Truman answered — or parried—heavy barrage of questions from reporters while MacArthur was voicing other views in a closed senate hearing some 16 blocks away.

An edge to the president's voice, a tight-lipped terseness in his comments, indicated he was thoroughly conscious of the dramatic conflict that was reaching its height in Washington today. Mr. Truman made it plain he expected the senate hearing would give the verdict to him.

Apart from the MacArthur controversy, the president:

1—Said Ambassador William O'Dwyer has his confidence, despite the senate crime committee's report that O'Dwyer allowed crime to flourish while mayor of New York. He said he doesn't plan to fire O'Dwyer and doubts if the ambassador to Mexico—a fighter, like himself, the president said—will resign.

2—Disclosed that he personally approved the beef price control order issued last week.

3—Denied making any deal with New York democratic National Committeeman Edward J. Flynn, or anybody else, to get support for the St. Lawrence seaway project.

Irate Driver Nearly Fined For Contempt; Court Gets Apology

An irate motorist almost got himself fined for contempt of court Thursday morning when he loudly protested the fact that the policeman who arrested him was not present in Municipal court.

Judge Edward C. Fisher told the defendant, E. H. Earl of 740 South Thirtieth, "you are in contempt of court," and demanded and got an apology.

Earl had been charged with violating a stop sign. He was finally fined $1 and costs after insisting that he wanted to plead guilty to the charge.

Judge Fisher explained to him that he was free to plead not guilty and that the court had nothing to do with the officer's absence.

"Where's the officer? Where is he?" Earl asked.

Motorcycle Officer George Biggers, who gave Earl his ticket, did not appear in court.

Two Escapees Are Captured In Utah

The pair of reformatory inmates who escaped here in a truck April 23 have been rearrested in Price, Utah by the FBI.

Francis L. Stark, 21, of Kent, Wash., and Billy C. Wagner, 17, of Tulsa, Okl., were both sent to the reformatory from Lancaster county for car theft.

FBI officers could not be contacted Thursday to ascertain if they planned any action under the Dyer Act. That law makes the transportation of stolen vehicles across state lines a federal crime.

No Prospect Of Meat Rationing

DiSalle Is Firm For Rollbacks

Asks Fair Trial On Lower Prices

WASHINGTON —(AP)— There's no present prospect of rationing as a result of new beef pricing orders, Price Director Michael V. DiSalle said Thursday.

Taking note of wide complaints against the five-day-old rollback order, DiSalle urged that it be given "a fair trial." He said he didn't believe a meat famine would result from an immediate big rush of animals to market.

He is standing firm, he added, on his statement that there is no evidence to cause the office of price stabilization to change its new directive.

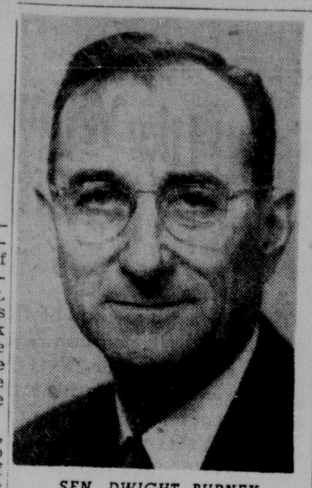

DiSalle talked with reporters shortly after Sen. Ellender (D-La) predicted black markets and rationing by Nov. 1 unless the beef-price rollback program is abandoned. Ellender heads the senate agriculture committee. A similar prediction has been made by Sen. Hugh Butler (R-Neb).

SEN. DWIGHT BURNEY

Legislative Council Picks Burney Head

. . . Prohs Vice Chairman

Dwight Burney, senator from Hartington, has been named head of the legislative council for the next two years. Sen. Burney succeeds Sen. Ed Hoyt of McCook in that capacity.

Sen. Otto Prohs, Gering, was named vice chairman.

Between sessions, the legislature resolves itself into the "legislative council," a sort of committee of the whole, to study various problems of state government.

Sub-committees are assigned to different topics.

So far only one subject has been assigned for study during the coming interim—education. This probably will be divided into three sections: Teacher retirement, teacher training and certification, and school finance.

The public works committee has recommended a study of watersheds, but no resolution on the subject has been introduced yet.

The council or its executive board, as well as the legislature in session, may decide to make a study on some problem.

The executive committee consists of the chairman and vice chairman; the speaker of the legislature, who is Sen. Hoyt; and the chairman of the committee on committees, who is Sen. Pizer of North Platte.

Burney, serving his fourth term, said he has not decided when to call the group together.

"I've got to find out what my duties are, first," he commented.

Small Family System Hurts The Aging

Dr. Meadows Tells Welfare Conference

Aging parents have become a community problem because there is no place for them in the household of the small-family system that has recently developed.

Dr. Paul Meadows, University of Nebraska sociologist, said this Thursday in a workshop on aging at the first session of the three-day meeting of the fifty-fourth annual conference of the Nebraska Welfare association.

The workshop was sponsored by the university's extension division.

Doubling Number of Aged

Dr. Meadows said about half of America's fathers today are under 30 years of age. At the same time America is doubling every generation the number of aged persons.

"This family system is bringing with it intensified competition for security, for housing, for political privilege and leadership, and for dependency support," Dr. Meadows declared.

"In the past a husband and wife grew old in the midst of large family in which they continued to play a part. Not so now!

Unfortunately for the American family the grandmother of yesterday tends merely to be the mother-in-law of today.

"An aging population is going to require more and more attention to the security and support of an ever increasing number of families. It is also going to mean that the number of families broken by death and therefore no longer independent and separate will be on the increase. In other words, we are being forced to find more and better community solutions to the problems of our aging population."

Other speakers and their topics at Thursday's meetings were:

Mrs. Doris Pierce, Lincoln city recreation department, "Effective Community Programs with Older Persons."

Mrs. Mary Archerd, chief of technical service Nebraska state employment service, "Employment Problems."

Dr. Garnet Larson, associate professor of social work, University of Nebraska, "Where Does the Older Person Get His Income?"

Dr. J. C. Waddell, Beatrice Medical Group, "Physical-Medical Aspects of Aging."

Dr. Cecil L. Wittson, director of the psychiatric unit, University of Nebraska college of medicine, Omaha, "Toward Mental Health for the Aging."

Klietsch Replies Nebraska Highway Cost Is Reasonable

State Highway Engineer Fred Klietsch Thursday answered charges of the Nebraska Petroleum Industries committee and the Nebraska Farm Bureau that federal-aid secondary rural highways built in Nebraska cost more per mile than those built in neighboring states.

"Complete facts and figures from public records can prove that secondary highways in Nebraska are being built at fair and reasonable prices, and comparable to prices in our neighboring states," he said.

"The crux of the problem of comparing costs of building highways in several states lies in the unit costs of the various items involved, along with an analysis of governing plans, and the kind and quantities of the various items involved."

Kleitsch then quoted figures on the cost of excavation per cubic yard which listed Nebraska's cost as 21 cents, Kansas, 25 cents; Iowa, 20 cents; Missouri, 40 cents; South Dakota, 20 cents; Wyoming, 32 cents, and Colorado, 59 cents.

Liquor Lobby Probe Committee Files Revised Report

The special liquor-lobby investigating committee of the legislature filed its report Thursday, signed by all seven members.

The report, as it was drawn up last Monday, did not have the full support of all the members and several refused to sign it. As a result, it was revised and the revised report was filed Thursday.

"The public had full knowledge of the activities of this committee and the dates of our hearing," the report said. "No one appeared with any criticism or charges against the activities of the registered lobbyists."

The report was first drawn up last Monday. That version said "It was the consensus of opinion that this testimony (of witnesses before the committee on reports of alleged law violations in Omaha reveals the same to be) rumors and hearsay."

As revised the report will read, "It was the consensus of opnnion that this testimony consisted of nothing but rumors and hearsay."

In a succeeding sentence, the original draft had read: "Much of the testimony that was given consisted of facts and information that is now and always has been of public record in the office of the liquor commission."

The revised form reads, "consisted of information that it in the office of the liquor commission," with the word "facts and" stricken.

A third change was to substitute a recommendation that the next legislature study possible changes in lobbying laws, for an earlier one that the legislative council make a study.

Senators Hern of Chadron, Vogel of Omaha, Person of Wahoo and Lusienski of Columbus were the committee members who balked at signing the report until it had been strengthened.

After the revisions, made in a series of hasty conferences on the floor beween Chairman Ray Babcock and various committee members, Person and Hern signed, and Vogel and Lusienski promised to when the revised draft had been re-typed.

Other members of the committee are Senators Wellensiek of Grand Island and Marvel of Hastings.

The committee was set up Feb. 19 on a motion by Senator Carson of Ord who proposed investigations of the li quor wholesalers' lobby and the liquor commission. An amendment by Senator Tvrdik of Omaha broadened the directive to include all lobbyists registered with the secretary of state.

The explosive liquor question hit the floor of the legislature Wednesday when Senator Williams of Ravenna sought to take up his anti-monopoly bill, LB 379.

The bill would require a manufacturer to sell at a posted price to any wholesaler wishing to buy.

Senator Lusienski objected to taking up the Williams bill Wednesday on grounds it had been alid over until the Babcock committee had reported.

Babcock then disclosed his difficulties in getting his report signed.

"I want to get rid of it," he added.

Lusienski's motion was voted down.

H. L. Carson Promoted By Consumers

H. L. Carson, Lincoln district manager of Consumers Public Power district since 1947, has been named operations manager of Consumers state-wide system, General Manager R. L. Schacht announced Thursday.

Replacing Carson as Lincoln district manager will be D. L. Renner, present district manager at Norfolk and formerly of Lincoln.

In his new post Carson will replace Dewey Deboer who resigned recently to accept the position of executive director of the Nebraska Public Power system.

Carson will remain in Lincoln until all arrangements can be completed in filling vacancies created by the transfer, Schacht said. Eventually he will headquarter at the firm's general offices in Columbus.

Carson started his utility career in 1919 with the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power company. He became manager of the Norfolk Consumers district in 1933, and was promoted to manager of the Lincoln district in 1947.

Renner, the newly appointed Lincoln district manager, graduated from the University of Nebraska engineering college in 1923 and is a registered electrical engineer. He was principal and coach for two years at Albion public schools, after which he accepted a position with the Westinghouse Electrical company in East Pittsburgh, Pa. He came to Lincoln in 1927 with the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power company, serving in va rious capacities until 1942, when he moved to Columbus.

The Big White Bar Goes Twice As Far

No Week-End Worries

IF WE HAD HAD ANY worries concerning the tempo of the week-end—they are now at rest—For a moment or two the Friday-to-Monday period seemed to be in slow motion, but there has been acceleration along the line of activity—and there is news galore—

* * *

HEARD A RUMOR involving Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Stuart's new home—now in the process of construction—checked, and found it was only rumor—period. Had it been true it would have made a most interesting story—The rumor, you see, was to the effect that the new house had sunk two or three feet into the ground. If it has, it is news to the Stuarts.

* * *

THE GUEST LIST is rather lavish this week-end — Just learned that Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dobson have house guests—Mrs. Dobson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Petersen of Palm Springs, Cal., and Idaho—arrived Thursday for a stay of several days.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Dobson will be host and hostess at a family dinner at the Lincoln Country club, complimenting the visitors. Included in the guest list will be Dr. and Mrs.. J. Stewart Bell, and Mrs. Florence Moore, all of York.

* * *

HEARD, TOO, that Mrs. Harold Swanburg of Quincy, Ill., has been spending the week in Lincoln—Although Mrs. Swanburg has been the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis C. Kimball, she has been visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis D. Kimball. Mrs. Swanburg will leave on Sunday to return to her home.

* * *

ALSO ON THE GUEST list this week—until Saturday, is Mrs. Homer Hales of Flandreau, S. D., who is the house guest of her sister, Mrs. Harold Holtz—

* * *

BEFORE WE GO any further—did you know that Mr. and Mrs. Holtz are moving to New York City? Mr. Holtz, in fact, already is there—having left just a week ago—But Mrs. Holtz will not be leaving until May 29—and at that time her son, Bob, will serve as chauffeur as far as Rochester, N. Y., where they will be joined by Mr. Holtz—There will be a family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Branch, jr. (Mary Lou Holtz) after which Mr. and Mrs. Holtz will go on to New York City.

* * *

SOMEONE TOLD US, too, that Miss Marcella Allen, who is with the information office in the bureau of reclamation, Denver, would be a week-end guest in Lincoln.

* * *

AND PLANE-ING IN on Thursday were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Czaplinski of Santa Ana, Cal., formerly of Lincoln, who will be the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gillan during their brief stay here.

On Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Gillan entertained a small group of guests at dinner at Lone Oak, complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Czaplinski—and this morning Mr. and Mrs. Gillan will entertain at breakfast at Hotel Cornhusker, honoring the out-of-towners.

This evening, between the hours of 7 o'clock and 10 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wheeler will hold open house at their home, 1570 South Cotner boulevard, complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Czaplinski who leave on Saturday morning to return to Enid, Okla., where they had been visiting relatives—and then on to their home in California.

* * *

THE FAR SIDE of the week-end—Monday to be specific, will bring Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Grimm of Wyomissing, Pa., to Lincoln via Omaha where, on Sunday, they will attend the wedding of their son, Philip, and Miss Joel Bailey.

During their stay here Mr. and Mrs. Grimm will be the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Kimball.

* * *

SPEAKING OF THE Bailey-Grimm wedding — thought there might be some Lincoln people among the wedding guests—and there will be—Mr. and Mrs. Victor Jouvenat will be going as will Mr. and Mrs. Vance Traphagen, Mrs. Rex Davies, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Davies—to name a few.

* * *

JUST FOUND ANOTHER name for the guest list—Mrs. John A. Boose will come from Hinsdale, Ill., on Sunday morning to be the house guest of her niece, Mrs. Vance Traphagen and Mr. Traphagen.

* * *

AND SOME TIME this week-end Robert Davies flies from Pebble Beach, Cal., for a brief visit with his mother, Mrs. Rex Davies, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Davies—Mr. Davies is enroute to Casablanca where he will be joined later by Mrs. Davies and their family.

* * *

WE'LL CLOSE THE guest book now and get on to other matters—such as the brunch on Sunday at the Lincoln Country club when Mrs. Richard Russell and her daughter, Miss Mary Russell, entertain in prenuptial courtesy to Miss Mary Sue Holland, whose marriage to Donald Bloom will be an event of June 2. Eight guests have been invited for the brunch and an informal period following. The soon-to-be bride will be presented with a hostess gift.

* * *

TOOK A QUICK LOOK over our shoulder and found that Thursday evening was not entirely void of activity—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Magee, for instance, presided at a family dinner at the University club in celebration of the birthday anniversary of their son, Robert.

* * *

AND ALSO HOST and hostessing at a family dinner at the University club on Thursday evening were Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Roper whose table was arranged for eight.

* * *

WALKING AND GOLF seemed to be the activity at the Lincoln Country club Thursday evening—at least the Walking club met—and one of the various golf groups also were on hand.

* * *

SATURDAY IS THE BIG day on the University of Nebraska campus—It is Ivy Day—all day. The traditional luncheon for Mortar Board alumnae is scheduled for 12 o'clock in parlor A, Student Union, with Mrs. William Weston in charge of all arrangements. The officers, who have been named to serve during the coming year, will be announced at the luncheon to which all out of town Mortar Boards are invited to attend.

* * *

WE'RE THROUGH with the current week for the moment, and now turn our attention to Monday—and the Colonial club dinner dance at Hotel Cornhusker—The party committee is composed of the retiring officers and board members, including Mr. and Mrs. E. Sheldon Hallett, president; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McCoy, secretary-treasurer; Mr. and Mrs. Elsworth DuTeau, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Swenson, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Magee, and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Fraser.

Thought you might be interested in the new officers and board members of the club—and here they are:

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mallory, president; Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Hans, secretary-treasurer; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Clark, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Koch, Mr. and Mrs. C. Ned Cadwallader, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sick, Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Loudon, and Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Everett.

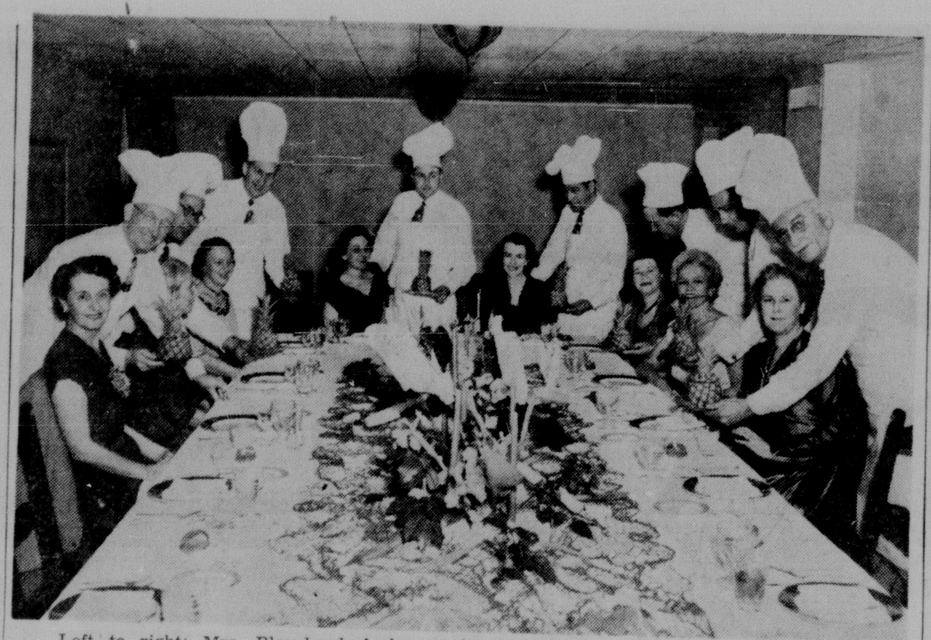

Guests at the Monday night dinner dance will be Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peck of Minneapolis, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Newman.

* * *

MAYBE YOU ALREADY know it— but we just heard of the birth of a daughter, Catherine Hardee, to Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Coryell on Sunday, April 15, at St. Anthony's hospital, St. Petersburg, Fla. The announcements are in the form of theater tickets, presenting Catherine Hardee in the starring role of "Baby Makes Three."—Very cute and clever.

* * *

THEN—IN THE St. Petersburg (Fla.) paper was a story about Tony Dexter and Mr. and Mrs. Jack B. Tucker—all former Nebraskans—Tony Dexter, if you are a movie fan, you will know as a boy from Talmage whose real name is Walter Fleischman and who resembles Rudolph Valentino so much that he was given the title role in the cinema "Valentino." Mrs. Tucker is the former Doris Guthols of Talmage—niece of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Frerichs of Lincoln—and Mr. Tucker is the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Otto R. Newberg of Lincoln.—The point of the story in the clipping is that the movie, "Valentino" now is showing in St. Petersburg, and the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Tucker know the star in the movie seems to have caused excitement in St. Petersburg.

Left to right: Mrs. Blanchard Anderson, Mr. Anderson, Ralph Ayer, Mrs. Ayer, Mrs. Edward J. Walt, jr., Mr. Walt, Mrs. Charles T. Stuart, Mr. Stuart, Mrs. James Heriot, Ted Butterfield, Mrs. Neil Hall, Mr. Hall, Mrs. George B. Cook, Mr. Cook, Mrs. Richard Lilly and Mr. Lilly.

Hearing that the Gourmet club—which we blithely call the "Cooking club," was to have a tres elegante dinner for the wives and guests of the members Wednesday evening at the University club, we took a look—It indeed was a beautiful party—a tropical affair replete with tropical foliage, tropical fish, resting cozily on sea foam AND—as you can easily see, the menu—at least the first course, also introduced the tropical note.

Unicameral Ladies Entertain

The Unicameral Ladies club held its last session of the year Monday evening, when the members entertained their husbands and friends at dinner at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Honored guests for the evening were Governor and Mrs. Val Peterson. Mrs. R. W. Hill of Hebron, president, presided at the meeting. The governor gave a short talk following the dinner, and Mrs. O. W. Person of Wahoo showed pictures and talked on her trip to Guatemala.

Out-of-town guests for the affair were Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Emery, Waverly; Mrs. Eva Hooper, Winnipeg, Canada; Mrs. Rosa Samis, Namos, Canada; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Conklin, Hubbell; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dooley, Papillion; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lupinsky, Omaha; Miss Verna Overbeck, Beatrice; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Prebel, Omaha.

Truesdale, Topeka, Kans.; William Truesdale, Topeka, Kans.; Mr. and Mrs. William Hill, Hebron; Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Edgecombe, Geneva; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Brodahl, Wahoo; Dr. and Mrs. Norden, Wahoo; John Borrelson, Omaha; Mrs. Olga Palmer, Grand Island; Captain Richard Palmer, Grand Island; and Master Kit Carmody, Trenton.

PTA Council Entertains

Mrs. A. E. Hanneman, president of the Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers, installed the newly-elected officers of the Lincoln Council of P.T.A. at the Thursday afternoon meeting of the council held at the Y.M.C.A.

The new officers, pictured above with other board members who are serving the second year of their terms of office, are: Seated from left to right, Mrs. Gilbert Unterseher, recording secretary; Mrs. L. V. Michael, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Alden Metcalf, auditor, and Miss Marie Bourke, second vice president. Standing, from left to right, are: Mrs. Elden Hitz, first vice president; Mrs. Fred Sehnert, president, and Mrs. A. C. Wehr, treasurer.

Mrs. Sehnert presided at the meeting which was opened by a program of songs presented by the Hartley and Elliott Mothersingers directed by Mrs. Louis Christiansen, after which Mrs. Leonard Wenzl, character education chairman, read a poem, "My Mothers Day."

A short talk was given by Dr. Steven N. Watkins, superintendent of Lincoln schools, who thanked the P.T.A. council for support of the school bond issue. Mrs. Sehnert announced that the P.T.A. groups have been invited to attend a tea on Sunday, from 3 o'clock to 4 o'clock, at the Lincoln State hospital on the occasion of the hospital's informal open house.

A report was made by Mrs. L. A. McMaster, music chairman, of the thirtieth annual national Music Week which will participate in the program. Mrs. Elmer Yates, publications chairman, reported that Randolph P.T.A. was a member of the One Hundred P.T.A. subscription club, with Hartley P.T.A. joining the groups in the Fifty P.T.A. subscription club.

Mrs. Carlton Flynn, safety chairman, made a report and introduced Miss Eunice Preston who spoke on the bicycle clinics to be held at the Lincoln junior high schools, and plans for the summer reading program, co-sponsored by the P.T.A. with the Lincoln city library, were discussed by Mrs. Herman Siefkes, library chairman.

Announcement was made by Mrs. Leroy Laase, chairman of the exceptional child committee, that the annual program and party for homebound pupils will be held at 2 o'clock, Thursday afternoon, May 24, at Saratoga school, and Mrs. Herschel Tisdale announced that Saturday, May 26, would be the date for the P.T.A. annual fun day for Lincoln school children at Capital Beach, to be held from 9 o'clock to 6 o'clock.

Following the president's annual report, Mrs. Elden Hitz was elected alternate delegate for the national P.T.A. convention at Miami Beach, Fla., and the members voted to cancel the regular June meeting of the council.

At the close of the afternoon, the council entertained the newly-elected presidents and council representatives of all Lincoln P.T.A. units as well as members of the Lincoln school faculties at a tea held at the Y.M.C.A. Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. J. E. Gable and Mrs. Elden Hitz.

Hartley P.T.A. Pre-School Coffee

The first of a series of introductory meetings for pre-kindergarten children and their mothers was held at Hartley school Wednesday morning, under the sponsorship of Hartley P.T.A.

Thirty-three mothers and their pre-school children were guests. Miss Eleanor Swanson, principal of Hartley, welcomed the group and conducted a tour of the lunchroom, library and kindergarten room, where Miss Bernice Pardee, the kindergarten teacher, was introduced. A short film was shown in the library.

Following the tour, coffee was served at tables decorated with spring flowers. Mrs. A. E. Baragar, president-elect of the P.T.A. unit, invited the mothers to attend the annual May breakfast and also to join the P.T.A.

Mrs. Baragar and Mrs. A. W. Epp, retiring president, were co-chairmen for the meeting.

Unicam Kills Anti-Monopoly Liquor Bill

Sen. Williams Bill Beaten; Vote 21-17

Special Investigation Report Brings Debate

BY ARCH DONOVAN
(Star Staff Writer)

Methods of distributing liquor will remain unchanged in Nebraska the legislature decided Thursday when by a vote of 21 to 17 they voted to indefinitely postpone LB 379, copied after the Kansas law and introduced by Sen. W. J. Williams of Ravenna.

A storm of heated argument arose Wednesday when he wanted to bring it up for consideration. The discussion centered, however, on the absence of the special investigating report rather than on the Williams bill. Copies of the report were on the desks of senators early Thursday morning.

The debate, which lasted for about an hour and a half, followed a pattern that has not been uncommon during the present session. Existing conditions were stressed rather than debate on the contents of the bill and what it would accomplish.

Creates Monopoly

Most of the senators made public their personal habits as regards to liquor, introductory to their talks. The majority of those speaking in opposition to the bill stated they were non-drinkers, while several favoring the bill admitted they occasionally drink.

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, who said all wholesalers in Omaha are in his district, which also contains about 25 per cent of the retail licensees, pointed out that the bill "creates a monopoly for the introducer." He referred to the Bloctky Beverage Co. of Omaha which favored the bill. All other wholesalers opposed.

"It looks like someone is trying to slip over on us a cute little trick," Klaver said. "I don't think even the introducer and sponsors of the bill knew of it."

A Family Quarrel

He then called attention that the bill would exempt from its provisions those who buy in bulk and bottle in the state. These firms he explained, can build up their own brand names and are not required to sell to other distributors as are manufacturers of other brands.

Charging that the bill was the result of a "family quarrel" between wholesalers, he said the one distributor has a large stock of bulk whisky.

Sen. Williams explained his reasons for introducing the bill. He said he opposed monopoly and two years ago attempted to end it by introducing a bill to have the state wholesale liquor. He said he objected to foreign corporations taking $5,000,000 from the state every two years.

Keep Gangsters Away

Efforts of the liquor industry to get a candidate to file against him were charged by Williams, who said a salesman called on him and said $10,000 was available to defeat him. He said they tried to get his promise not to introduce liquor legislation.

Williams said the Kansas law, from which the Nebraska bill was patterned, was drafted to keep gangster rule from the state. The bill, he said, would save retailers the necessity of buying "dead brands" in order to get popular merchandise.

Sen. Babcock, chairman of the committee that heard the bill and also the investigating committee, said the bill was designed to force manufacturers and distributors to post their prices and sell to all retailers under that same scale.

No Personalities

On the floor he said he was not "interested in personalities" that had been drawn into debate but wanted to "call a spade a spade." He charged the "monopoly" is gradually "taking a strangle hold on the state" and that he looks to see one distributor get control in several states.

Babcock said that testimony showed that the Phillips company which operates in about five states purchased between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 worth of whisky from a distillery in which he is a large stockholder.

Sen. Ed Lusienski, who said he had not taken a drink in 46 years although he spent nine years as a bartender, made the motion to kill the bill. He called it "discriminatory" and with a "tinge of interfering with interstate commerce."

Sen. Wellensiek told that in 1936 the state had 56 wholesalers, and establishments were maintained in 14 towns. Now, he said, there are but seven with all located in Omaha but one. He asserted that three companies control 70 per cent of the business and that two brothers-in-law have 50 per cent.

The Grand Island senator said the Phillips company with capital of $17,100 has $853,000 in undivided profits and surplus of $50,000 with no information on how much stockholders have withdrawn in dividends.

The Western Wine and Liquor Co., a Paxton & Gallagher subsidiary, he said has $125,000 in capital, $1,157,400 in undivided profits and $60,000 reserve. He attacked the maintaining of rooms by lobbyists for the recreation of members of the legislature and friends.

But a loud howl of laughter greeted his remark that there are no lobbyists for insurance companies.

Sen. Robert McNutt queried Sen. Wellensiek. "What good is this bill going to do the general public?" He reported himself unsatisfied with general nature of the answer.

Too Much Time

Sen. Tvrdik called the attention of the legislature to his opinion that it was "taking more time than warranted and dignifying a family quarrel of wholesalers."

The vote:

To kill the bill: J. Adams, Bridenbaugh, Cole, Cramer, Diers, Duis, Hern, Klaver, Kotouc, Larkin, Liebers, Lilliridge, Lusienski, McNutt, Marvel, Moulton, Nelson, Person, Pizer, Tvrdik, Vogel.

Against: Babcock, Beaver, Brown, Burney, Carmody, Carson, Hill, Hoyt, Kreutz, Lee, Metzger, Peterson, Shultz, Syas, Wellensiek, Williams, Wilson.

Not voting: T. Adams, Lindgren, McKnight, Prohs, Shalla.

Lincoln Man Elected To Head Medics

... Record Meet Ends

DR. HAROLD S. MORGAN

OMAHA—(AP)—Dr. Harold S. Morgan of Lincoln Thursday was named president-elect at the closing session of the Nebraska State Medical association. He will take over his duties at the next convention of the organization.

The 1951 convention drew a record attendance of 811, including 604 doctors, technical exhibitors and women's auxiliary members. Next year's annual convention will be held in Lincoln.

Dr. Rudolph F. Decker of Byron was named vice president, and Dr. R. B. Adams of Lincoln was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The association, in a resolution, declared that medical education in Nebraska is declining and pledged its support for "correction" of the situation.

Correction Promised

The association said it "recognizes the serious implications of the present decline in medical education in the state." It pledged itself "to foster and actively promote a rapid correction."

Other officers elected include: Dr. Fay Smith, Imperial, board of trustees; Dr. J. P. Gilligan, Nebraska City, re-elected to the medicolegal advice committee, and Dr. C. F. Heider, North Platte, council on professional ethics.

Recommended as members of the board of directors of the Nebraska medical service were Dr. E. W. Bantin of Omaha, Dr. W. W. Carveth of Lincoln, Dr. N. J. Everett of Omaha and Dr. J. Phil Redgwick of Omaha.

Dr. W. C. Kenner of Nebraska City was named to the district two council post.

Dr. Decker was presented a gavel in recognition of his 12 years as speaker of the house of delegates.

Miss Barbara Jones of Hastings was named winner of the association's auxiliary essay contest. She is the daughter of Mrs. Kenneth Jones.

Miss Jones read her essay entitled, "Medicine's Role in Preserving the American Way of Life," at the luncheon and joint meeting of the association and auxiliary.

Tom Wallace of Geneva was announced as second place winner. Awarded the third place was Miss Kathryn Olds of Omaha. The winners received a $100, $50 and $25 bond, respectively.

Contest judges were Robert G. Simmons, chief justice of the state supreme court; Rev. Frank Court of Lincoln, and Ramey Whitney, professor at the University of Nebraska.

Youth Gets Warning After Burning Shed

A 16-year-old Lincoln boy with a practical turn of mind was given a warning by Fire Chief E. P. Feaster to be a little more thoughtful in the future.

Wednesday night the boy's mother asked him to burn some rubbish and to tear down a small shed. He phoned fire headquarters for permission to burn the rubbish.

Why not burn the shed too, and save the work of tearing it down, he thought?

A few minutes later firemen had the blaze under control and had ordered the youth to report for a Thursday conference with Chief Feaster.

New Council Must Decide Old Problem

Vice President Post First Major Issue

Lincoln's new city council, meeting for the first time after the old council adjourns Monday, will have a clean but far from empty slate to start with.

The two new council members, Chauncey W. D. Kinsey and Pat Ash, along with the four old members and Mayor Victor E. Anderson will be faced with what is usually a major issue—choosing a vice-president of the council.

The vacancy is created with Tom Pansing, present vice-president, leaving the council. He and Arthur J. Weaver did not run for re-election to another term.

Post An Honor

The post is one that necessarily must be filled immediately. And there is little doubt that every member of the council would consider the job a pleasing honor.

Settlement of the issue this year will be even more difficult than before as the newest ruling by the city's legal department requires any successful candidate for the post to have four votes of approval exclusive of his own vote. Any major division in the council could thus present a stalemate.

The issue was hotly contested last year when Pansing garnered the then required four instead of five votes. Councilman Rees Wilkinson nominated Fern Hubbard Orme for the post but their two votes could not swing the issue. Councilman John Comstock did not vote in the matter.

Service a Factor

One of the factors usually considered in the selection of the vice-president, length of service on the council, favors Wilkinson. With one full four year term and about half of another one behind him his tenure of office runs over two years more than his next nearest competitor in that line, Mrs. Orme.

Councilmen Roy Sheaff and John Comstock have served half of a four year term to which they were elected in 1949.

While another matter, the appointment of three city directors, personnel officer, legal staff and treasurer, is also on the new council's agenda Monday it is expected to cause little, if any, controversy.

There was some difficulty in concluding the matter two years ago but the major issues involved then are not present this year. Also, unlike the naming of a vice-president, it is not urgent that the above officials be appointed immediately. As was done in 1949 the matter can be laid over for a week or two of consideration.

Sioux City Batters Three Lincoln Hurlers, 10-3

Soos Collect 15 Hits Off Hoyle, MacFaden, Gohl

By NORRIS ANDERSON
(Sports Editor, The Star)

LONG distance Sioux City batting power Thursday night exploded the myth of Lincoln's pitching strength, 10-3 at Sherman Field before 1,045 kibitzers.

Upsetting a mound duel between the A's Tex Hoyle and Hal Toenes in the seventh, the Soos wound up with 15 hits and waded through three Lincoln hurlers.

Included in the Soos' barrage were two home runs and six doubles. That told the story this wind-swept evening.

Bobby Gardner

Lincoln led, 3-2, heading into the seventh and Tex Hoyle, in his first 1951 appearance, appeared strong enough to herd home a victory.

Then—bingo!—the Soos suddenly exploded a double and two singles for three runs and Mr. Hoyle was removed at the end of the inning.

His successor, Jim McFadden, was nailed by Catcher Dickens for a leftfield homer, on his first pitch. Biddle, the next man, doubled and MacFadden retired after hurling only six pitches.

In strolled Lefty Vince Gohl, who was quickly tatooed for a double, two singles and two more runs.

TRIO IN 9TH

The A's picked up another trio off Gohl in the ninth on Reid's homer over the rightfield fence, a walk, a double by Biddle and a fielder's choice.

Lincoln scored in the first on Billy Shantz's walk, backed by Bobby Gardner's double to center.

Johnny Magliola made it around in the third on a fielder's choice, a stolen base, and two errors.

Tommy Kirk scored in the fifth on an error and a double to center by Wilhelm.

Biddle was the Soos' big siege gun with three doubles.

GARDNER LEADS

Gardner was the A's main hope with a double and two singles.

Fielding gems of the evening were Gardner's leap and stab of Bressoud's hot roller in the second and John Wisneski's against-the-fence catch of Biddle's long fly in the sixth.

Either Arnold Portocarrero or Lefty Mason Bowes will be on the mound for the A's tonight in the second of their three-game series with the Soos.

THE CHAMP — Lou Thesz (above), world's wrestle champ, will meet Mike DiBiase at the fairgrounds Tuesday night.

Mike Meets Champ Thesz ... Fairgrounds Tuesday

Mike DiBiase, the ex-Cornhusker gridder, meets his toughest foe in two years of professional wrestling at the fairgrounds arena Tuesday night.

Iron Mike will meet Lou Thesz, recognized as world's wrestling champion by the National Wrestling Alliance board.

In a previous title defense here several months ago, Thesz defeated another former Husker gridder, Jack Pesek.

Thesz has not been defeated in 87 matches since he won the title belt in 1948.

In other matches, Jack Pesek will face Joe Dusek and Dick Dusek goes against Ken Fenelon.

Tom Novak, All-America Husker gridder, will referee.

"We originally did not intend to match Mike with Thesz for another six months," said Promoter Adam Krieger, "but he has come along so fast, we feel he is ready now."

NELLIE FOX — Lincoln A's —Got one hit in four trips to the plate against Washington and assisted in one double play.

SHELDON JONES—Tecumseh—Was shelled heavily by the Pittsburgh Pirates in the 10th inning and received the loss as the Giants were beaten 7-4.

RICHIE ASHBURN — Tilden, Neb.—Collected one single in three trips to bat for the Phils as St. Louis was winning 8-4.

Louis, Lee Savold, Ink For Match

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK — (AP) — Joe Louis and Lee Savold have been fighting professionally for 17 years and somehow or other never got around to facing each other in the ring. Thursday they agreed to remedy that and signed to meet in a 12-round bout in the Polo Grounds, June 13.

The survivor of this battle of graybeards will earn the right to walk into the chopping fists of Heavyweight Champion Ezzard Charles in a title bout in September. That is if Ezzard still is boss. The champ has a couple of engagements of his own coming up.

POWER LOST?

It's very fortunate for Savold that he's just getting around to Louis now. The Bomber, who will be 37 in 10 days, apparently has lost the power in his right hand wallop. Old Joe still has mayhem in his mind but his right hand no longer can carry out the commands of his brain.

He threw only duds in outpointing Omelio Agramonte in a ten rounder in Detroit Wednesday night.

That was Joe's fifth win on his latest comeback campaign. He's probably right for Savold, who just passed the 35-year old mark, but hardly ready for Charles again.

The 12-round distance was a compromise. Louis wanted it to be a ten rounder while Savold held out for 10. Why Lee wanted 15 is a big mystery. Louis has gone the 15-round route many times while Savold never has gone more than 12.

NWU Nudges Doane, 5-4

Nebraska Wesleyan cashed in on two errors for an unearned run to win the first game of their season Thursday over a Doane college nine playing as the Wilber Wieners.

Bob Kropp, Wesleyan southpaw who went the route for Irv Peterson's crew, won his game in the bottom of the eighth when he perched on second after Third-Baseman Larry Stanley's two-base error, moved to third on a fielder's choice, and romped home when Second Baseman Bill Best juggled a bounder and threw late to first.

Kropp's wildness (he walked six) coupled with nine Doane bingles, gave the visitors a 4-0 lead at the end of three innings. The Plainsmen picked up a single tally in the fourth, added two in the fifth, tied it in the sixth, and scored the clincher in the eighth.

Blair Romps To Easy Eastern Seven Conference Track Win

BY JERRY MAPES
(Star Sports Staff Member)

After jumping in to an early lead in three morning events, Blair showed it meant business by walking off with the Eastern Seven Conference title at Wesleyan's Magee Stadium Thursday afternoon.

The final tabulation showed Blair the winner by a large margin, They had 85¼ points followed by Ashland with 43¾, Valley 35, Bellevue 28¾, College View 28, Plattsmouth 23½, and Wahoo 21¼.

Jack Bennett was probably the meet's outstanding individual as he notched three wins for Coach Bob Ketterers' Blair crew. Bennett set a new East Seven record as he soared to 11 feet 4 inches in the pole vault. This effort shattered a two-year mark of ten feet even held by Laverne Newman of Ashland.

Bennett then went on to prove a very able substitute for injured John Blatten in the high and low hurdle events, winning both. Bennett clipped off a :21.9 flight of lows and :16.3 highs.

The busy Blair lad also tied for first place ribbons in the high jump with Delaine Tipton of Valley at 5-4½.

Tipton was the big gun for third place Valley as he also took a blue ribbon in the broad jump and the 220-yard dash and placed second in the 440 event. Tipton personally accounted for 26½ of Valley's 35 point total.

Ray Lanik of Wahoo sailed the discus 145' 7" for the best effort in the state this year.

Blair, coached by Bob Ketterer former student and three sports letterman at Wesleyan, brought a well balanced team to the annual affair. The Blair boys romped off with eight of the fifteen blue ribbons and able support in the place and show brackets.

Peru Prep Hit By Links, 14-0

Lincoln high baseballers Thursday afternoon romped to an easy 14-0 win over Peru Prep on the Muny diamond.

The Links tabbed Bobkitten Hurler Fred Applegate for a total of 13 hits in six innings. Meanwhile, Lincoln's starting moundsman, Portsider Dick Geier, hurled no-hit ball for five innings.

Red and Black Reliefers Leonard Robertus and Dick Cecil each gave up a single hit.

The Links were on their way to the shutout early as they sent a pair across in the first inning. Bob Barnett, on with a walk, and C. W Perry, who singled into centerfield, came in on Don Erway's double into leftfield.

ERWAY TOPS

In the third seven more runs came across on three hits — a single and double by Perry and another two-bagger by Erway. The Links got three more in the fourth and a pair in the fifth.

Five most untimely errors on the part of the Bobkittens aided the Links' cause.

Tops at the plate for Lincoln was Erway, who collected three doubles for as many trips to the plate. Perry had three for four, including a double, and Ronnie W. Johnson, in his sole appearance, slammed out a triple to deep center but was tabbed out at home trying to stretch it into a circuit clout.

Coach Lyle Weyand, who has taken over the coaching reigns in the absence of army-bound Bob Siezak, sends his charges against Holy Name of Omaha this afternoon at three p.m. at Muny.

Bluebirds Outscore Ceresco

(Special to the Star)

CERESCO—A big third inning and nifty mound work by John Steinauer provided the Cathedral Bluebirds with a 4-2 win over Ceresco Thursday afternoon on the Ceresco diamond.

Steinauer yielded only four safeties while whiffing 14 Ceresco batsmen.

Joe Clark was the big Bluebird gun as he lashed out a pair of two-baggers for the only extra base blows of the game.

More Football For Vacanti

LOU LIMMER, illustrious alum of the Lincoln A's, is drawing considerable comment in Philadelphia papers these days.

On strength of the tall, slender lad's tremendous clouting in a pinch-hit role, the Quaker scribes are pushing him for regular duty with the Philadelphia A's.

There is much talk of trading touted Ferris Fain, the A's regular first baseman, for a wad of cash or three or four young players. The A's need both.

If Fain would be cashed in, they say Limmer would be the lad for the A's regular first base job.

Lou has two shortcomings. His throwing arm was left weakened by a bullet in World war II. His fielding is not quite up to day-by-day big league consistency.

His swatting is overcoming these shortcomings, however. No less than Ted Williams of the Gold Sox is boosting Lou. Said Ted the other day:

Sam Vacanti

"With a little work, Limmer should develop into a great major league ball player. He has the size, the build and the swing—everything a man needs."

And here's General Manager Arthur Ehlers' quote on proposed trades: "Sure, I can make trades. But you ought to see what the other clubs wants to give us—batboys for regular pitchers!"

Anyway, knowing Lou as the great clutch performer that he is, we're betting he finds a regular notch in the big time.

MRS. SAM VACANTI, wife of the ex-Husker quarterback ace, tells The Firing Line that Sammy is out for spring football at Quantico, Va., where he has been called back to active duty as an officer in the Marines.

Sam's coach is Bill Justice, brother of Choo Choo, the North Carolina All-American.

After playing the single wing at Iowa and Purdue (V-12), Sammy was under the Masterson T at Nebraska. Now, he's completing the cycle by learning the double wing.

Slingin' Sam will be transferred in July to Parris Island, S. C., where he'll probably be cavorting on the gridiron this fall.

He and a Husker mate, Joe Partington, now with the FBI, had a reunion in Washington the other day.

THERE is warm blood flowing through the veins of Virginian Carl Pusey, business boss of the Lincoln A's.

Either the chap carries a hot water bottle under his sports shirt, or he's a master psychologist.

In early Sherman Field games, the low thermometer has called for a general wearing of mufflers, overcoats and winter toggery.

Then there is Prof. Pusey strolling around the grounds sans overcoat, muffler or any form of winter toggery. You'd swear the chap was under a mid-July Virginia sun. There isn't a shiver in his timbers.

"I have to set an example for my patrons," gallantly explains Pusey. "If they see a business manager all bundled up, they're liable to start talking."

Overhauling THE NEWS

BY WALLY DeBROWN

We heard of a Parent-Teachers organization that is planning a series of courses for parents. The theory in back of it is that just bringing the children into the world doesn't make you a good parent. That makes as much sense as an adding machine. Too many parents feel the schools and churches ought to carry the load when it comes to turning out good citizens . . . but nothing takes the place of family training. The PTA wants to help parentsto know how to handle their end of the job. If we ever needed good citizens, now's the time . . and the place to start is right at home.

The other day the government in Washingtonordered the rtaioning of sulphuric acid. Now, if we could only ration a few of the acid speeches it might help. We can help you to a lot of driving satisfaction. Our selection of used cars is the finest, cleanest in town. What's more every one is guaranteed reconditioned. Better Fishing Seen With Warmer Weather

Fishing should get better in Nebraska as the weather becomes warmer.

There was good fishing in the state last week in some areas, the state game commission reported Wednesday, and over-all the picture was the best of the season.

Word 'Democracy' Has Clouded U.S. Thinking

. . . Davis Tells NWU Honors Convocation

The word "democracy" has led thinking on basic problems to utter confusion, Clarence A. Davis, Lincoln attorney, told Nebraska Wesleyan students Thursday.

Davis, who is president of the Nebraska State Bar association, addressed the annual honors convocation recognized more than 100 students for superior academic and extra-curricular work. Davis is a 1913 graduate of Wesleyan.

"The term (democracy) is a chameleon," Mr. Davis declared. "It is not used in the constitution of the United States. It is not used in the constitutions of a single state in this union. It is a word to which Marshal Stalin and the chairman of the republican national committee can both pledge undivided allegiance.

Lawyers Responsibility

"It is all things to all people and as a group professing to some knowledge and some little power of analysis, it is our responsibility as lawyers to make clear the dangers to America in the loose acceptance of other forms of laws and other plans of government merely because they bear the label o fthis very slippery term.

"The real test of liberty and freedom," Davis pointed out, "is whether there is a constitutional restraint upon government. The one essential factor of that plan is an independent judiciary that will restrain the unlawful and illegal acts of a government which transgresses constitutional restrictions just as readily as it will punish individuals who transgress the law.

"Unless that situation exists, all of the parliaments, legislative bodies and declarations of high sounding principles in the world will not prevent tyranny; for whoever possesses unrstrained power over a man, be he dictator or parliament, or the people themselves, ultimately becomes a tryant. We alone, in all the world, have the restraint."

Dr. J. C. Jensen, chairman of the Wesleyan honors committee, presided over the meeting and Dean R. W. Deal recognized the honored students for the school.

Miss Mary Louis Holding of the music department staff sang "This Day is Mine," by Harriet Ware and Rev. Joe Riley Burns of First Methodist church, pronounced the invocation.

Among those students recognized weer those who compiled highest scholastic averages last year, including graduates, and members o fthe class of 1950 who graduated with honors.

Students recognized at the convocation:

War Material Embargo Of Chinese Reds Asked Of United Nations By U.S.

NEW YORK— (INS) —The United States asked the United Nations Thursday to invoke an all-inclusive embargo on shipments of war materials to communist China.

Gross

United States Ambassador Ernest A. Gross, acting on instructions from Washington, urged the 12-member United Nations sanctions committee to act with speed. He called for the imposition of the embargo to "prevent a single United Nations soldier from being shot by a bullet manufactured in the free world."

Gross, in urging a "strategic" arms embargo specifically proposed the banning of arms, ammunition, implements of war, petroleum, atomic materials and those materials useful in arms production and war implements.

The American move touched off a show-down with Britain and France on the entire issue of relations with the regime of communist China's Mao Tse-Tung.

Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb promptly took the floor in the sanctions group meeting to plead for "caution" before leaping into an arms embargo.

Jebb and a number of other of the 12 states represented indicated that they believe a public discussion of such a controversial problem would "irritate and provoke" red China to increase their fighting in Korea.

The United States argued that a display of firm determination by the United free world to repel aggression might induce the Chinese communists to seize an early opportunity to arrange a cease fire and negotiate a peace in Korea on United Nations terms.

Despite the expected storm of controversy once the 12-member sanctions committee recommends the American program, the United States will go ahead and draft a formal embargo resolution for presentation to the committee early next week.

The United States is confident that the sanctions committee will recommend action on it to the 60-member political committee, where severe tests and violent attacks from the Soviet bloc can be counted on.

Predictions are that the biggest battle the United Nations has faced since the condemnation of red China as an aggressor in Korea will take place once the assembly begins to debate the issue.

In addition to asking for a general ban on war material shipments to China, the United States also in its forthcoming resolution will ask for the establishment of a committee to "police" the ban.

Violations and trans-shipments would be quickly reported to the committee and to the assembly for further punitive action if necessary.

Gross said that the United States wants the general assembly to make recommendations forestalling action by any country which might nullify the operations of the embargo through surreptitious shipments.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Blood Change In Cancer

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Scientists at the University of California school of medicine report that tumors in rats bring about an increase in the clotting time of the animals' blood. As the tumor grows, the clotting time becomes longer.

Under conditions used in the experiments, the normal clotting time for blood in rats is two to five minutes. The time was found to increase with tumor weight. At 15 grams, the clotting time is 15 minutes; at 25 grams, as much as 55 minutes.

Doctors at the university believe the test results indicate that cancerous growths cause some fundamental alteration in the blood clotting mechanism of the whole system. The affected blood has been examined and all known components for normal blood have been found to be present. What exactly causes the change in clotting time in affected animals remains a mystery.

Wheat Revives, Leads Grains

CHICAGO — (AP) — Wheat came out of an early slump to lead most grain contracts higher on the board of trade Thursday.

Buying which started in wheat soon spread to corn, which jumped ahead quickly toward the close. Oats and rye ended mixed while soybean failed to get back to the previous close, although reducing their extreme losses.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1 cent higher, corn ½-1¼ higher, oats ¼ lower to ½ higher, rye (old style) ½ lower to ¾ higher, soybeans unchanged to 1½ lower and lard 3 cents lower to 5 cents a hundred pounds higher.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK—(AP)—Government bonds lost some more ground Thursday, but a number firmed late in the day to close above the lows. Most losses were held to 2/32 of a point.

Dealers said few of the larger investors participated in the day's light dealings and some reported evidence of federal reserve support buying.

The bank-eligible 2½s of September, 1972-67 dropped 6/32 of a point at 99 26/32 bid and three issues lost 4/32. There were no gainers but five issues held unchanged.

Stocks Boom To New High

NEW YORK — (AP) — Outstanding strength in the rails brought on a buying drive Thursday that pushed the stock market to a new high for the year.

There was some hesitancy in the list about midway of the session, but it was smothered in the final hour when virtually every major group plunged forward.

The market simply ignored anything of an adverse nature and put a bullish interpretation on everything at hand.

Along with the railroad shares, substantial advances were made by steels, chemicals, copper mining issues, and a long list of individual issues, including pharmaceuticals.

Automobiles closed about unchanged after lagging almost all day, and the aircrafts were unchanged to lower. The utilities on average advanced slightly.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks jumped $1.20, the biggest advance in a month, and closed at $97.80. That tops the previous high of the year of $96.90 attained Feb. 10, and it is the best since Sept. 23, 1930, when the average stood at $98.20.

Volume at the same time expanded to 2,060,000 shares. Passing the two-million-mark has not been too frequent this year since the previous February high. Wednesday it came to 1,900,000 shares.

Along with the better business pace the list of individual issues traded widened to 1,193 as against 1,162 issues Wednesday. There were 607 stocks advancing and 312 declining with 78 new highs and 22 new lows.

The market reached its low point four weeks ago in the recent reaction and since has been a consistent gainer.

Curb market stocks pushed ahead with volume at 420,000 shares as compared with 470,000 shares Wednesday.
